PARTEE HISTORICAL SKETCH

The early history of the Partee family, as near as can be obtained, by historical matter and from the older members of the family, who were the early settlers, of what is now Defiance County, Ohio, traces their lineage back to the middle of the eighteenth century, and in the wilderness of Kentucky, here it was that John Partee, a Frenchman, not far from the year 1760 cast his lot with the hardy pioneers of that period and became the progenitor of the many Partee families who for the past one hundred years have been located throughout Ohio and in later years more especially in the N. W. portion of the State. Among the children of this ancient ancestor were two sons George and John Partee. The latter in the later years of his life known as John Partee, Sr. The brother George was born in Kentucky near the Blue Licks, a place which afterwards became historical, as a battlefield where the savages defeated the Americans in a bloody contest in Oct. 1780. George Partee joined the army of General Wayne and was under the command of that heroic American when he built Fort Defiance, and took a gallant part in the battle that was fought a few weeks later, which resulted in the defeat of the Indians and the final peace treaty of Greenville in 1795. In the life of James B.Findlay written by himself and an early pioneer writer, we find the following: - “Speaking of Wayne’s victory, and in regard to some of the leading officers, being wounded he adds, G. Partee was also wounded in the thigh, but like his brother officers he fought on, until the battle was over and the victory achieved.” The second wife of George Partee was Rachel Hague, and of their seven children, Enos Partee, a well known pioneer of Tiffin Township, was the oldest. He was born in Virginia June 2ndd 1794, came to Highland County, Ohio with his fathers family at a date not now known, married to Phoebe Dunkin in 1816, died at the old home in Tiffin Township in April 1875, having located there in 1827.

Hester Ann Partee was born June 2nd 1817, the oldest son George was born April 5th, 1819 married Anna K. Gurwell, Nov. 30, 1841. Of their ten children Phoebe, wife of William Staley died Mar. 12, 1879, Mrs. Elizabeth Hannah, Mrs. Louis Carter, John, Mrs. Geroge Keller, Jacob and Frank. John Partee, the youngest of a family of ten children was born in Colerain township, near Adelphi, Ross County, Ohio, May 15, 1812, came to what is now Defiance County with his parents when 12 years of age. A large portion of the succeeding 15 years of his life were spent in hunting wild game that abounded in the surrounding wilderness. Often when a little boy, I have listened to his stories of adventure, especially remembering one in which he climbed a tall dead tree, which overhung the deep waters of the Tiffin River to watch a deer lick. As he seated himself, in the branches, gun in hand in the darkness of night, the tree suddenly broke off at the ground. The result can easily be imagined. Old Fort Defiance was partially preserved at the time of their coming, and from what is now Brunersburg, not even a trace was cut through the woods, to the place of settlement. In the latter part of the 40's he was elected Captain of the Ohio State Militia and rose to the tank of Major. Father Partee lived on the old farm the remainder of his life. Whereas, a man of upright Christian character, his life was an open book. The circumstances of his death were those of peculiar sadness. On July 11, --- while returning from the City riding in his buggy, he was run down by a drunken man and received injuries from which he never fully recovered. Taken home he hovered between life and death for some weeks but finally, at least partially recovered he went about his daily duties but the following winter internal injuries caused him to gradually decline, resulting in his death on 19 March 1886, aged nearly 74 years, a member of the M.E. Church for 35 years.

Nancy Brown, 2nd child of Reuben and Sarah (Jones) Brown, was born in Jackson County, Ohio on May 12, 1821, removed with her father's family to this farm in 1833, was married to John Partee Oct 10, 1839. Mother Partee, though bowing under the weight of four score years, is still hearty and vigorous having attained an age greater than any member of the family. There are witnesses living today who knew her at the age of 19 years to stand in a half bushel and shoulder two bushels of wheat. Of their family of seven children, Alvero Partee, born in 1840 was killed in the battle of Chicamagua during the Civil War in 1863; Reuben Partee, an infant son died in 1844; Sirena Partee born in 1845, married to Malon Erman in 1868, died 1893. Of their five children, Elvin lives in Nebraska; John, married to Miss Bowers, lives in Evansport; Edwin, married to Miss Patten lives on the home farm; Alma and Hazel still live at home. Mahala Ann Partee, married William P. Bayes in 1871 and their son Roy married Miss Fickle and daughter Florence live in Farmer Township. Frank Partee, married to Malinda Wolf June 12, 1873, three children, Florence May and Ray at home and Minnie married to C.G. Blanchard, live in Toledo. Warren A. Partee, born May 1, 1855, married to Lydia J. Snider in Dec. 1853 have 4 children: Gladys, Rowena, Winter and Blake. Lydia died 29 Jan 1894. Clara Partee was married to W.O. Wissler Dec. 1880 with their three children, Karl, Ethel and Donald live ner Evansport. The old homestead farm passed out of the hands of the Partee family about one year ago, after remaining in the family for a period of 77 years.

(my great great grandparents)

John Partee, Sr. was a resident of Ross County, Ohio in the year of 1812. John and Nancy (Williams) Partee were the parents of ten children:

George
Elizabeth
James
John
Joseph
Enoch
Deborah
Lewis
Lawrence
Hannah

John Partee was a teamster in the War of 1812 and his sons, James and Joseph were Privates in Capt. Duncan Mc Arthur's (afterward Governor of Ohio) Company and was stationed at the ill fated field of River Raisin at the time of Hull's surrender at Detroit.

John and Nancy along with their family left Ross County and removed to Defiance County. Their route was by way of Sidney and Wapakoneta thence down the river to old Fort Defiance which was still partially preserved.

John and Nancy removed to near Pulaski about 1840. Time grew short, Nancy died in 1840 and soon after John returned to the home of his youngest son, Capt. John, and died there in 1846. He was buried in the old Webb Cemetery now known as Tiffin-Noble Township Cemetery.

Among interesting papers handed down (and in the possession of J.P. Partee) in the early 1800's was a summons from Sheriff Preston to John Partee to attend court in Defiance as a juror and also a deposition filed by him in 1804.

In 1824 Government lands being cheap, members of the family bought several fractions of land lying along the Tiffin River from Brunersburg to the present site of Evansport.

Among the other eartly settlers were John Perkins who came in 1816, John Whissler, Obediah Webb and John Lawrence. Children of these families intermarried with the Partee family.

SUBJECT: WILLIAMS FAMILY GENEALOGICAL INFORMATION

I have recently joined the Crawford County Chapter of the Ohio Genealogical Society and I noticed that you were researching the Williams surname.

At this time I have only the information which I have been able to obtain from my mother, Mabel Beck Hobson Macy, my Aunt, Margaret Patterson Beck, and my Great Aunt Blanche Ruhl McClelland Baker, but I will enclose the computer print out of it. My Aunt Margaret has the original Mary Williams Beck Bible which she received from my Grandmother Alvada Ruhl Beck's estate in the 1960's.

I feel sure that Aunt Margaret would not mind if you wanted to talk with her about this Bible. The following is her address:
Margaret Beck
125 N. Vine St.
Mt. Gilead, OH 43338
419-947-4946

I realize that you may not even be able to use this information, but thought that it was worth the postage in case I find a long lost cousin. And, of course, if you are able to finn in any blank spots, please feel free to do so. For instance I have some confusion as to who really was Mary Williams Beck as my Great-Grandmother's name was Elizabeth Williams Beck. Help!

Sincerely yours,

Brenna L. Budd

Dear Brenna,

Thanks so much for your response to my data request in the Crawford County Chapter Newsletter. My great, great grandmother was Nancy WILLIAMS. Other than that I have not been able to locate any other information about her except family tradition says that she had a brother Enoch who served in the War of 1812. I made one search down at Archives but the only Enoch Williams that I found served in the Civil War. He was in Co. K, 132nd Regt., Ohio Inf. His wife's name was Esther Ann Ballinger. They were married 12 Apr. 1849, Zane Twp. Logan Co. OH.

I am inclosing the family sheet of John PARTEE and Nancy (WILLIAMS) PARTEE and what I know about the early history of this family.

I have a very good friend who also has a Williams connection. They also came from the south into Cinci. Oh. in fact her grandmother was born in a wagon while crossing the old bridge that was recently demolished over the Ohio River. (Not a very well constructed sentence but I guess you know what I mean.) We have not been able to establish a connection. She says from the research that her mother did there were three different Williams families that came into Ohio in the early 1800's.

I will make contact with your Aunt Margaret but probably not until after the holidays. I go to Ohio two, three times a year as what relatives have live in the Williams/Defiance Co. area. I was born and raised there but have lived in the East since 1950.

Thanks again and while searching, if I find any information that may be of interest to you I will certainly share it with you and if you see anything that could be of help to me I would be most interested in that.

Sincerely,

Roena

Old Roads and Wolf Scalps

I was quite recently sputnicking around in the courthouse helping catalogue public records. Among the things that came to light is the second road petition, dated 1830. This road was in what was a part of Williams County before 1850.

The point of beginning of the proposed road was "At the 6 mile witness tree. one mile below Cyrus Hunter's," located about 5 miles down the Maumee River from Defiance. The Indiana line was the proposed western terminus. The Bellefontaine Road through Defiance was surveyed in 1831. Both roads were travelled by Indians, French and British long before an improvement was petitioned for.

Cyrus Hunter served as Williams County commissioner in 1829. On Feb. 3, 1831, he purchased the land where the Denmark tavern was located. Hunter undoubtedly built the tavern before the town of Denmark was surveyed. He chose one of the best locations for a hotel on the Bellefontaine Road. It was located near the river, and many of the guests who stopped there were traveling by boat.

Denmark was the first town surveyed within present Williams County. The survey record states the place was surveyed on Dec. 25, 1834, by Miller Arrowsmith, and Payne C. Parker was the owner. No deed was recorded in the land transfer from Hunter to Parker.

Miller Arrowsmith is mentioned in many old records, and there was a town named "Arrowsmith" in Defiance County. The Arrowsmiths were members of the Scottish clan "McGregor."

Payne C. Parker at one time held the office of judge and applied for (and was granted) a tavern license in Defiance in April 1833.

There are many applications for tavern licenses and a few for ferry boats. There are also about 400 legal notices in the old records concerning stray horses and cattle. At one time, a few fields were fenced and cultivated, and cattle were turned loose on the public land.

Anyone who harbored stray cattle or horses was supposed to go to the courthouse and have a description of the same recorded. A man near Pulaski worked a stray horse for quite some time before having its description recorded. When the sheriff did not arrest the horse borrower, the Methodist church decided something should be done. After due deliberation at a church trial-by-jury, the horse catcher was kicked out of the congregation for conduct unbecoming of a Methodist.

From the old records, it is easier to determine where people were located (even after 150 years) than it is to tell in which place they are now, but I hope for the best. It is also far easier to bring to light the meanderings of old-timers than it is to keep track of some people now living -- myself included.

While rooting around amongst the old records, we became fully aware of the fact the old-timers got things done. The extermination of wolves was no before-breakfast job. There is a stack of about 400 sworn statements among the records dated from 1825 to 1852 which are worded as follows: "State of Ohio, County of Williams. I do solemnly swear, in the presence of God, that the scalp here now produced by me is the scalp of a wolf taken within the County of Williams within twenty days just passed and sincerely believe the same to be over the age of six months, and that I have not spared the life of any she wolf within my power to kill, with the design to increase the breed."

One affidavit is dated Feb. 21, 1835 and signed "John Partee (X)." his mark. "Sworn to and subscribed before me. John Evans, Clerk."

In February 1826, James Cavanaugh and Dennison Hughes turned in wolf scalps to collect the bounty money. Joseph Bates collected enough bounty money to buy a farm. Many sworn statements were for several scalps. It is very likely that bounty money was collected on at least 1,000 wolves.

The wording of the sworn statements is interesting. The statements note that the scalps brought in were those of wolves. If tradition can be relied on, the scalps of grey foxes and dogs were sometimes brought to the county clerk to collect wolf bounties.

The wolf hunters always stated the wolf was over six months of age. No man could tell the age of a wolf; some were small for their age. The pups in a wolf den were usually considered six months old. Since there were as many as ten wolf pups in a litter, there was considerable money involved.

In some of the sworn statements the words "in the presence of God" were omitted because the wolf hunters did not care to take such a solemn oath. All of them were required to state "I have not spared the life of any she wolf with the design to increase the breed." Some wolf hunters swore to a false statement and spared the lives of all female wolf pups "with the design to increase the breed," making scalp hunting more profitable for the hunters who told the truth. This is the only circumstance I know of in which two wrongs made a right.

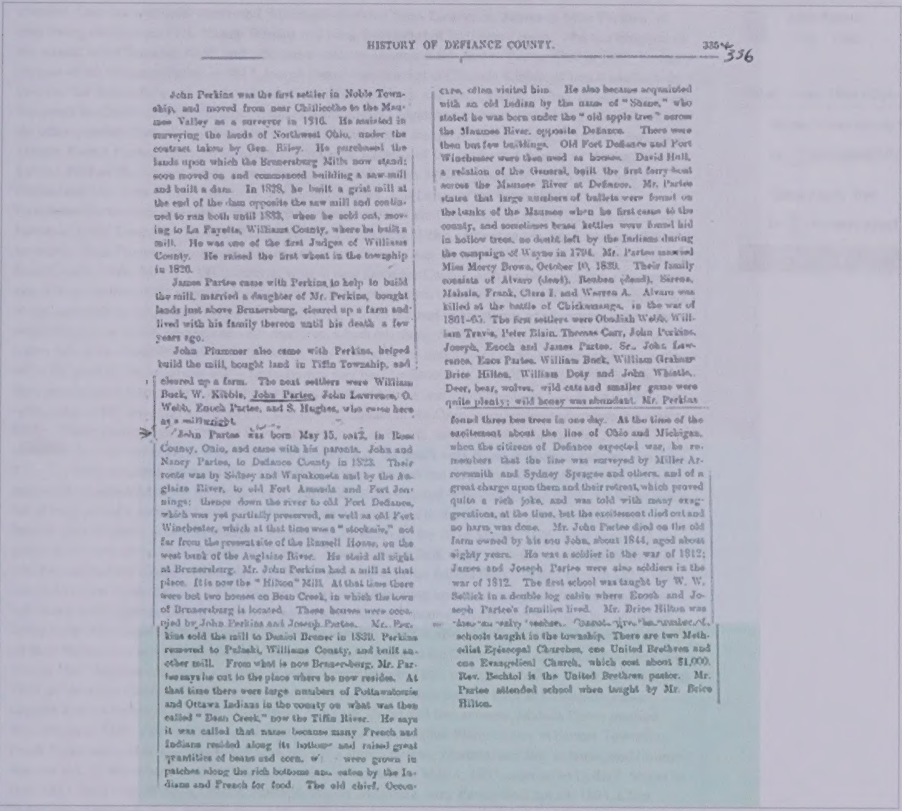
John Partee, son of John & Nancy (Williams) Partee



HISTORY OF DEFIANCE COUNTY. 335 336

John Perkins was the first settler in Noble Township, and moved from near Chillicothe to the Maumee Valley as a surveyor in 1816. He assisted in surveying the lands of Northwest Ohio, under the contract taken by Gen. Riley. He purchased the lands upon which the Brunersburg Mills now stand; soon moved on and commenced building a saw-mill and built a dam. In 1828, he built a grist mill at the end of the dam opposite the saw mill and continued to run both until 1833, when he sold out, moving to La Fayette, Williams County, where he built a mill. He was one of the first Judges of Williams County. He raised the first wheat in the township in 1820.

James Partee came with Perkins to help to build the mill, married a daughter of Mr. Perkins, bought lands just above Brunersburg, cleared up a farm and lived with his family thereon until his death a few years ago.

John Plummer also came with Perkins, helped build the mill, bought land in Tiffin Township, and cleared up a farm. The next settlers were William Buck, W. Kibble, John Partee, John Lawrence, O. Webb, Enoch Partee, and S. Hughes, who came here as a millwright.

John Partee was born May 15, 1812, in Ross County, Ohio, and came with his parents, John and Nancy Partee, to Defiance County in 1823. Their route was by Sidney and Wapakoneta and by the Auglaize River, to old Fort Amanda and Fort Jennings; thence down the river to old Fort Defiance, which was yet partially preserved, as well as old Fort Winchester, which at that time was a "stockade," not far from the present site of the Russell House, on the west bank of the Auglaize River. He staid all night at Brunersburg. Mr. John Perkins had a mill at that place. It is now the "Hilton" Mill. At that time there were but two houses on Bean Creek, in which the town of Brunersburg is located. These houses were occupied by John Perkins and Joseph Partee. Mr. Perkins sold the mill to Daniel Bruner in 1833. Perkins removed to Pulaski, Williams County, and built another mill. From what is now Brunersburg, Mr. Partee says he cut to the place where he now resides. At that time there were large numbers of Pottawatomie and Ottawa Indians in the county on what was then called "Bean Creek," now the Tiffin River. He says it was called that name because many French and Indians resided along its bottoms and raised great quantities of beans and corn, which were grown in patches along the rich bottoms and eaten by the Indians and French for food. The old chief, Occonoxee, often visited him. He also became acquainted with an old Indian by the name of "Shane," who stated he was born under the "old apple tree" across the Maumee River, opposite Defiance. There were then but few buildings. Old Fort Defiance and Fort Winchester were then used as homes. David Hull, a relation of the General, built the first ferry-boat across the Maumee River at Defiance. Mr. Partee states that large numbers of bullets were found on the banks of the Maumee when he first came to the county, and sometimes brass kettles were found hid in hollow trees, no doubt left by the Indians during the campaign of Wayne in 1794. Mr. Partee married Miss Mercy Brown, October 10, 1839. Their family consists of Alvaro (dead), Reuben (dead), Sirena, Mahala, Frank, Clara I. and Warren A. Alvaro was killed at the battle of Chickamauga, in the war of 1861-65. The first settlers were Obadiah Webb, William Travis, Peter Blain, Thomas Carr, John Perkins, Joseph, Enoch and James Partee, Sr., John Lawrence, Enos Partee, William Buck, William Graham, Brice Hilton, William Doty and John Whistle. Deer, bear, wolves, wild cats and smaller game were quite plenty; wild honey was abundant. Mr. Perkins found three bee trees in one day. At the time of the excitement about the line of Ohio and Michigan, when the citizens of Defiance expected war, he remembers that the line was surveyed by Miller Arrowsmith and Sydney Sprague and others, and of a great charge upon them and their retreat, which proved quite a rich joke, and was told with many exaggerations, at the time, but the excitement died out and no harm was done. Mr. John Partee died on the old farm owned by his son John, about 1844, aged about eighty years. He was a soldier in the war of 1812; James and Joseph Partee were also soldiers in the war of 1812. The first school was taught by W. W. Sellick in a double log cabin where Enoch and Joseph Partee's families lived. Mr. Brice Hilton was also an early teacher. [illegible] schools taught in the township. There are two Methodist Episcopal Churches, one United Brethren and one Evangelical Church, which cost about $1,000. Rev. Bechtol is the United Brethren pastor. Mr. Partee attended school when taught by Mr. Brice Hilton.

Often when a little boy I have listened to his stories of adventure, especially remember one in which he climbed a tall dead tree, which overhung the deep waters of Tiffin River, to watch a deer lick as he seated himself in the branches, gun in hand in the darkness of night, the tree suddenly broke off at the ground, the result can easily be imagined. Old Fort Defiance was partially preserved at the time of their coming, and from what is now Brunersburg, not even a trace was cut through the woods, to the place of settlement. In the latter part of the 40's he was elected captain of the Ohio State Militia and rose to the rank of Major. Father Partee lived on the old farm, the remainder of his life, whereas a man of upright Christian character, his life was an open book. The circumstances of his death were those of peculiar sadness. On July 11, ____ while returning from the City riding in his buggy, he was run down by a drunken man and received injuries from which he never fully recovered. Taken home he hovered between life and death, for some weeks but at least partially recovered and went about his daily duties, but in the following winter and internal injuries caused him to gradually decline, resulting in his death on the 19 of March, 1886, aged nearly 74 years. CHAPTER XXVIII.

NOBLE TOWNSHIP—PERSONAL REMINISCENCES.

THIS is the only inland township in Defiance County. It is bounded on the north by Tiffin Township, on the east by Richland, on the south by Defiance and on the west by Delaware. It is the smallest township in the county, embracing nearly all of Town 4 north, Range 4 east, which lies north of the Maumee, a little more than twenty-two sections. The Maumee forms a part of its southern boundary and the Tiffin River flows south through its territory. Brunersburg, the only village in the township, containing about 300 people, was laid out by Daniel Bruner and Henry Zeller in May, 1834. The original plat consisted of only twenty-eight lots, but five additions have since been made to it.

PERSONAL REMINISCENCES.

Brice Hilton, one of the few remaining pioneers of Defiance County, was born March 13, 1808, the son of Joshua and Hepzibah (Hilton) Hilton, both of whom were born in Starks, Somerset Co., Me., the former June 17, 1780, the latter July 2, 1785. His grandfather, Benjamin Hilton, was a resident of the same county and a miller by trade and occupation. Joshua and Hepzibah Hilton were married in Somerset County, Me., October 10, 1805. Joshua was a miller, like his father, and made milling his life pursuit. His children were Mary, born August 2, 1806, married Clark Philbrick March 15, 1827, and the same spring moved with her husband to Geauga County, Ohio; Brice, the subject of this sketch, born March 13, 1808; Thomas H., born June 25, 1810, died September 6, 1826; John, born October 14, 1811, died February 9, 1838; Ezra, born June 4, 1813, died September 28, 1846; Horace, born August 31, 1815, died in Osborne County, Kan., December 28, 1874; Eben, born August 21, 1818, died September 16, 1848; Benjamin and an infant daughter, deceased, born September 10, 1820; Benjamin died November 5, 1865; Richard, born September 18, 1823, died August 17, 1848. In September, 1817, Joshua Hilton with his family emigrated in a three-horse wagon from Maine to Ohio, reaching the town of Reading, Hamilton County, December 2. The following April he moved to a farm in Butler County, paying a cash rental of $100 for one year, at the expiration of which he removed to Carthage, and in the fall of the same year (1819) moved to Miami County, where he remained till the fall of 1822. In January, 1822, he made a journey afoot to Defiance and vicinity, having with him maps of the surrounding townships, for the purpose of selecting a farm. While here he stopped at the tavern of Robert Shirley. Mr. Hilton returned home, then went to Piqua, where the land office was located, and entered 140 acres on the south side of the Maumee, immediately above the plat of West Defiance, where he removed with his family, December 3, 1822. In the spring of that year, he had come with his son Thomas to plant a crop of corn, but having no land cleared, Judge Shirley permitted him to put out as much corn as he wished on the land opposite the old fair ground on an old Indian improvement. With his ox team he broke the blue grass sod and planted six acres, which yielded enough corn to last the family one year. Mr. Hilton erected the first log cabin between Defiance and Fort Wayne on the Maumee, except one, built by a Mr. Rodger, five miles below Fort Wayne. Mr. Hilton also built the first brick house in the county, except two at Defiance. He was a Whig, and died August 15, 1835. His wife died September 24, 1850. Brice Hilton spent his youth in working for his father and attending what schools were then available. During the winter of 1820, he attended school in Cincinnati, remaining about nine months. After he reached Williams County with his father, his educational advantages were indeed meager, but he had already mastered Stephen Pitts' Arithmetic, Bonnicastle's Algebra and Greenleaf's Grammar. He studied surveying and practiced it to some extent. From 1824 to 1830, he cleared land, boated on the river, split rails, hunted and worked on the farm. He then went to live with Dr. John Evans; read medicine with him, and after practicing it six months, abandoned the profession. In May, 1834, he went to Brunersburg with a stock of goods, having formed a partnership with Foreman Evans. At the end of twelve years, he sold out to his brother, Benjamin Hilton, and bought a farm adjoining Brunersburg. He has ever since followed farming, but in connection with it has been engaged in other pursuits, among them stock-dealing, taking contracts for building bridges, cutting out and piking roads, building embankments, etc. In 1850, he purchased the Brunersburg Mill property and in 1854 erected a grist mill, which he still operates. In 1855, he built a saw mill just opposite, which he ran till recently. In 1844, he bought the Brunersbrug Tannery and operated it for thirty years in connection with a shoe shop. About 1863, he built, on Lot 182, Brunersburg, mostly with his own means, a Universalist Church, which now has a membership of sixty-two. Mr. Hilton was married, December 4, 1836, to Sophia Umbenhour, who was born near Winchester, Va., July 29, 1821, and emigrated with her father's family to Williams County in 1835. Of their two daughters and ten sons, but five sons survive—Walter, born February 12, 1845, a merchant of Defiance; Ezra, born January 7, 1847, now a merchant at Pioneer, Williams County; Gilmore, born August 9, 1850, now living at Brunersburg; Lyman, born January 20, 1860, at home; John, born September 2, 1862, at home, teaching school. Mr. Hilton in early life was a Clay Whig, and is now a Republican.

John Perkins was the first settler in Noble Township, and moved from near Chillicothe to the Maumee Valley as a surveyor in 1816. He assisted in surveying the lands of Northwest Ohio, under the contract taken by Gen. Riley. He purchased the lands upon which the Brunersburg Mills now stand; soon moved on and commenced building a saw-mill and built a dam. In 1828, he built a grist mill at the end of the dam opposite the saw mill and continued to run both until 1833, when he sold out, moving to La Fayette, Williams County, where he built a mill. He was one of the first Judges of Williams County. He raised the first wheat in the township in 1826.

James Partee came with Perkins to help to build the mill, married a daughter of Mr. Perkins, bought lands just above Brunersburg, cleared up a farm and lived with his family thereon until his death a few years ago.

John Plummer also came with Perkins, helped build the mill, bought land in Tiffin Township, and cleared up a farm. The next settlers were William Buck, W. Kibble, John Partee, John Lawrence, O. Webb, Enoch Partee, and S. Hughes, who came here as a millwright.

John Partee was born May 15, 1812, in Ross County, Ohio, and came with his parents, John and Nancy Partee, to Defiance County in 1823. Their route was by Sidney and Wapakoneta and by the Auglaize River, to old Fort Amanda and Fort Jennings; thence down the river to old Fort Defiance, which was yet partially preserved, as well as old Fort Winchester, which at that time was a "stockade," not far from the present site of the Russell House, on the west bank of the Auglaize River. He staid all night at Brunersburg. Mr. John Perkins had a mill at that place. It is now the "Hilton" Mill. At that time there were but two houses on Bean Creek, in which the town of Brunersburg is located. These houses were occupied by John Perkins and Joseph Partee. Mr. Perkins sold the mill to Daniel Bruner in 1839. Perkins removed to Pulaski, Williams County, and built another mill. From what is now Brunersburg, Mr. Partee says he cut to the place where he now resides. At that time there were large numbers of Pottawatomie and Ottawa Indians in the county on what was then called "Bean Creek," now the Tiffin River. He says it was called that name because many French and Indians resided along its bottoms and raised great quantities of beans and corn, which were grown in patches along the rich bottoms and eaten by the Indians and French for food. The old chief, Occonoxee, often visited him. He also became acquainted with an old Indian by the name of "Shane," who stated he was born under the "old apple tree" across the Maumee River, opposite Defiance. There were then but few buildings. Old Fort Defiance and Fort Winchester were then used as houses. David Hull, a relation of the General, built the first ferry-boat across the Maumee River at Defiance. Mr. Partee states that large numbers of bullets were found on the banks of the Maumee when he first came to the county, and sometimes brass kettles were found hid in hollow trees, no doubt left by the Indians during the campaign of Wayne in 1794. Mr. Partee married Miss Mercy Brown, October 10, 1839. Their family consists of Alvaro (dead), Reuben (dead), Sirena, Mahala, Frank, Clara I. and Warren A. Alvaro was killed at the battle of Chickamauga, in the war of 1861–65. The first settlers were Obadiah Webb, William Travis, Peter Blain, Thomas Carr, John Perkins, Joseph, Enoch and James Partee, Sr., John Lawrence, Enos Partee, William Buck, William Graham, Brice Hilton, William Doty and John Whistler. Deer, bear, wolves, wild cats and smaller game were quite plenty; wild honey was abundant. Mr. Perkins found three bee trees in one day. At the time of the excitement about the line of Ohio and Michigan, when the citizens of Defiance expected war, he remembers that the line was surveyed by Miller Arrowsmith and Sydney Sprague and others, and of a great charge upon them and their retreat, which proved quite a rich joke, and was told with many exaggerations, at the time, but the excitement died out and no harm was done. Mr. John Partee died on the old farm owned by his son John, about 1844, aged about eighty years. He was a soldier in the war of 1812; James and Joseph Partee were also soldiers in the war of 1812. The first school was taught by W. W. Sellick in a double log cabin where Enoch and Joseph Partee's families lived. Mr. Brice Hilton was also an early teacher. Cannot give the number of schools taught in the township. There are two Methodist Episcopal Churches, one United Brethren and one Evangelical Church, which cost about $1,000. Rev. Bechtol is the United Brethren pastor. Mr. Partee attended school when taught by Mr. Brice Hilton.

Barnett G. Statler was born in Danville, Knox Co., Ohio, March 2, 1822, son of Mathias Statler, who was born in Hagerstown, Va., December 28, 1787. Mathias Statler, Sr., Barnett's grandfather, when a boy fourteen or fifteen years old, in 1764, ran away from his home in Berlin, Germany, and concealed himself in a vessel which sailed for America, landing at New York in November, 1764. He served during the Revolution, and for a gallant act, whereby he saved an officer's life, he was given a farm near Hagerstown, Md. He had determined to return to Germany and wed, if possible, a young woman, Katie, the playmate of his youth, but shortly before sailing, a German emigrant ship arrived with his mother and Katie on board. Mathias and Katie were married and settled on the farm near Hagerstown. Of their four children, Mathias was the eldest. At seventeen, he left home, went to Pittsburgh and there learned the blacksmith trade. At the age of twenty, he removed to Stillwater, Belmont Co., Ohio, and worked at the trade. January 1, 1811, he married Nancy Groves, a daughter of Capt. Groves, a Revolutionary officer. She was born April 25, 1793, the eldest of a family of thirteen children. Her father was English and her mother Irish. Mathias was drafted in the service in the fall of 1814 and left Stillwater with twenty-five others for Fort Meigs. They arrived just in time to assist in burying the dead, and soon after went to Fort Defiance. When they reached it, peace was declared, and they returned home. Mathias soon after removed to Danville, Knox County, where he engaged in backsmithing and keeping tavern. Shortly after, his house was destroyed by fire and the eldest daughter, Rebecca, perished in the flames. Of their thirteen children, ten grew to manhood and womanhood. Of these, Barnett learned the blacksmith trade. He traveled about a great deal, and at Lima, Ohio, met Laura E. Slayton, whom he married December 29, 1845. She was of Scotch and English descent. After marriage, they removed to Kalida, Putnam County, where he worked at his trade eight months. He came to Defiance August 1, 1846, and blacksmithed for William Warren a short time at $20 per month. He then built a shop on the site of P. Kettenring's machine shops, and later further down the canal near Green's printing office. He followed this trade here for thirteen years; then traded his property and removed to the farm in Noble Township where he now resides. He has since followed farming very successfully. Mr. Statler has five children, three daughters and two sons.

William Travis, one of the early settlers of Defiance County, was born in Adams County, Ohio, February 1, 1800. His parents were formerly from Kentucky, moving from there to Adams County, Ohio, and remaining until March, 1809, when they moved to the county of Delaware, remaining in this county until 1819, when Mr. Travis left his father's house and came to Fort Defiance. He returned to Delaware County the same year, remaining until the summer of 1822, and on the 23d of July, 1822, was married to Miss Mary C. Swartz, of Delaware County. Mr. Travis, his wife and one child, accompanied by David Perdue, his wife and one child, on the 1st of March, 1824, started from Delaware County to come to this county. They loaded their goods and effects belonging to both families on a big wagon which was drawn by two yoke of oxen and one horse. They came across the country through the woods, cutting their way a part of the time, the woods being thick and the roads narrow and not much traveled. The timber would fall across the road and would have to be cut away by them before they could pass on their way. Passed through the counties of Delaware, Union, Champaign and Miami, then turned to the St. Mary's River. On arriving at the river, they met with Oliver Crain, who had a large dugout, a boat made out of a large tree. He, too, was coming to this county, and they made arrangements with him to bring their families and goods on this boat down the river to Defiance; they helped manage the boat on the way down as a compensation to him for bringing their families and goods. Before they reached Defiance, they bought the boat of Mr. Crain, he stopping off in Crain Township, Paulding County. They brought their goods on to Defiance, landing here on the 1st day of April, 1824. Mr. Travis then settled on the Auglaize River, south of Defiance, about one mile up the stream on the east side on what was then called the Shirley farm, where he raised a crop of corn, which he fed to stock cattle; he took them to Detroit, Mich., and there sold his cattle at $4 net weight and took his pay in leather; came home and disposed of the leather as best he could and purchased land on the river at Delaware Bend. He lived there for a few years, sold out and purchased land below on the river in Delaware Township, now known as the Elias Bruner farm. From there he moved to Defiance, bought property and kept hotel for a short time; also bought other property in the neighborhood, then sold his property in Defiance and purchased the land in Noble Township that he afterward cleared up and made his home till his death, which occurred March 3, 1882. His wife died February 11, 1872. Their children were eleven in number, of whom the following survive: Permillia (Armstrong), William C., an attorney of Defiance, Nancy A. (Swartz), of Defiance; Foreman E., of Defiance; David, of Noble Township; and Martha E. (Williams). The deceased are John, who was lost on the ill-fated Central America, on his way home from California, in September, 1857; and Mary Harriet Gilliman first, and Gilliman second, who died young. By the fruits of his labor, Mr. Travis saved a sufficiency for himself and family during his life, and at the same time contributed to the relief of the poor whenever the necessities of the case required it, and also contributed to public improvements. He was an active business man, always prompt to meet any engagement that he would make or any demands brought against him, and was considered by all that knew him to be a straightforward and upright business man, energetic and determined in anything that he undertook to do. He was a great reader in his day, and a man of a wonderful memory and of good mind, the latter of which he retained up to the last moment of life.

AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL REMINISCENCES.

BY LYMAN LANGDON.

I was born September 9, 1809, at South Canton, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y. My father was born in Fishkill, Dutchess Co., N. Y.; my mother was born in the town of Dorset, Bennington Co., Vt. My childhood was spent in going to school three months in summer and to school again next winter, to relearn what we learned the season before, and helping on the farm, except on Saturdays, where we fished for brook trout and were very successful. At the age of eighteen, I commenced teaching common school—taught for nine winters. At the age of twenty-three was married to Fannie Marie Sanford, then living in the same neighborhood, who was born in Bridgeport, Addison Co., Vt., July 7, 1811. We have had ten children, four eldest and the youngest are deceased. Those living are Lucia A., at home; Adeline A., married to J. M. Bridenbaugh, living in Toledo, Ohio, in the provision trade; Emma B., married to J. A. Sheffield, farmer, in this (Noble) township; Ruth Almira, married to Oren A. Sisco, of this county, now in mercantile trade in Augusta, Butler Co., Kan.; and Grace E., married to J. W. Reid, of this county, and now in business with J. M. Bridenbaugh. In 1835, farming in Northern New York was at a low ebb; most of the farms were purchased on time, of the Harrisons and Van Renselaers, and some on Brown's tract. Settlers had all they could do to clear up the forests, make roads and build necessary buildings, extinguish the debt on their lands, and, as a consequence, they were obliged to deal with them as best they could. The proprietors were liberal, often throwing off interest, giving new contracts, many selling out their betterments, as it was called, moving West. In 1835, in company with Dr. Oney Rice (who had married Miss Lydia Barrows, a cousin), John Rice, E. Lacost, Jacob Conkey, who then lived in Warrensville, Ohio, came to the then Williams County, for Government lands; at this time buyers had to go outside the canal reservations. We left Cleveland in October, 1835, with wagon; found dry roads through the black swamp, forded the Maumee at Maumee City, drove around tree-tops, through ravines, up and down the bluff banks, without working, reaching Defiance, a town of about 150 inhabitants; found some of our acquaintances from St. Lawrence County. Among these were John W. Moore, Erskine Perkins, Edwin Phelps, William A. Brown, Amos Stoddard and Mr. Blackman. Left the team and went on foot to Centertown, passing through Brunersburg (the town at that time had been purchased by Samuel Sargeant of Mr. Bruner, the proprietor), kept possession five or six years, moved the mill down below the erected dam; got it running. First, high water washed the dam away; nothing more was done with the new mill, only moving back some machinery to the old mill. In 1836 and 1837 was built a small steamboat to run on the Maumee. Lacked power, and was only used in comparatively still water. It made its way to Fort Wayne, wintered in Rochester, fourteen miles above Defiance. In the spring of 1838, it came down with the ice; it was boarded by several men who tried to save it, but of no avail; it landed several miles above Maumee City; it was gotten off and run between Maumee, Perrysburg and Toledo. We followed the road or trail, not seeing a house till we got to Centertown; there we hired Mr. Overlease and Mr. Skinner to show us land. Stayed over night; next day followed section lines and our

Two events of key importance were the Battle of Blue Licks in Kentucky and the British evacuation of Savannah, Georgia. Future issues of the magazine will report added ones.

THE STRATEGIC BATTLE OF BLUE LICKS, KENTUCKY

By Historian General James David Sympson, Kentucky Society

The Revolutionary War continued in the remote western territory long after the surrender of Lord Cornwallis and the British Army at Yorktown. The frontier had experienced fighting since 1777 when George Rogers Clark established the Fort at the Falls of the Ohio (now Louisville, KY).

BACKGROUND OF THE WESTERN THEATRE

The British, allied with the Indians, controlled the territory north of the Ohio river with fortifications at Fort Detroit (now Detroit, MI), Vincennes (now Vincennes, IN), and at Kaskaskia and Cahokia (both populated by French settlers) located along the Mississippi River in what is now Illinois. South of the Ohio River, settlers were arriving on the western side of the mountains mostly through the Cumberland Gap, located in what is now southeastern Kentucky.

The fighting was not conducted in the conventional regimented formations of the Eastern Theatre, but more accurately described as Indian fighting. The British and Canadians would provide the leadership and direct the major assaults, and the Indian allies would supply the troops and in addition provide smaller raiding parties under their own leadership. The Patriots were Militiamen comprised of English (71%), Scots-Irish (14%), and other nationalities (15%); the entire frontiersmen were expected to fight. Many raids resulted in battles; deadly skirmishes and atrocities were conducted back and forth across the Ohio River by both sides. Kentucky was first referred to as "Kentucky County," part of Virginia. In 1780 it was divided into three large Virginia counties: Lincoln, Fayette, and Jefferson.

Among the battles, Lieutenant Colonel George Rogers Clark captured Sackville and Lt. Governor Henry Hamilton, known as the hair-buyer, in 1779 at Vincennes (now Vincennes, IN). The raids south of the Ohio River included atrocities such as the destruction of Ruddle and Martin Stations in 1780. Under the direction of British Captain Bird and Indian Agent Alexander McKee, an army that included 200 Canadian Rangers, Tories, about 600 Indians, and fortified with several cannons, set out to attack Fort Nelson at what is now Louisville, Kentucky. The Indians refused to attack the larger fort commanded by LTC George Rogers Clark (called "Long Knife" by the Indians) and the strategy was changed to Ruddle Station. As soon as the gates were opened the Indians rushed in seizing people, claiming them as prisoners; the old and sickly were killed while babies were pulled from their mothers' arms, and bashed and thrown into fires. The prisoners were divided and required to carry the plunder while the Indians rode their stolen horses. Sadly, Martin Station, located a few miles away, suffered the same fate. Approximately 27 were killed, and 470 captives of the British and Indians began a death march to Fort Detroit. Since a bounty of $5.00

BRITISH, INDIANS PLAN, CALL OFF ATTACK

In 1782 British and Indian allies amassed a force in the wilderness territory (now Ohio) and set out to attack Ft. Henry in Wheeling, Virginia (now West Virginia). The force was comprised of 150 British Rangers under the command of Capt. William Caldwell, along with approximately 1,100 Ohio Indian Nation Allies, supervised by Capt. Alexander McKee and Simon Girty, a British Indian Liaison Officer known for championing the Indians' perspective. The expedition was called off after it was reported that LTC George Rogers Clark was preparing to once more mount an offensive into the Ohio Indian Nation Territory, which is now in the state of Ohio. Most of the British and a large number of Indians returned home.

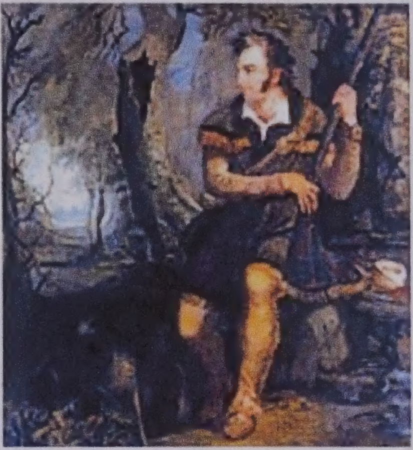
The more zealous members stayed and formed a smaller force comprised of about 50 British Rangers, commanded by Capt. William Caldwell, supported by Simon Girty and Alexander McKee, who supervised the approximately 300 remaining Indian allies. They decided to cross the Ohio River and attack in Fayette County, Virginia. Attacking Louisville was considered, and once more the Indian Allies were reluctant because of the reputation of LTC Clark. Instead it was decided to cross the Ohio River at the present location of Cincinnati, Ohio, and follow the Licking River into central Kentucky.

The Army proceeded south arriving at the abandoned Ruddle Station. At this point possibly a strategy was formed to attack a station in central Kentucky, knowing a retaliatory force would be raised and a withdrawal would be pursued, setting up the possibility of an ambush and destruction of a much larger force and establishing an encounter that was to their advantage.

BRYAN'S STATION CHOSEN FOR ATTACK

The decision was made, and Bryan's Station, located in the northeastern section of the most populated part of Kentucky, was chosen. On August 15, 1782, when the Army arrived in the evening, approximately 44 militiamen defended the station, and two express riders rode toward Lexington for reinforcements. Initially the invaders remained hidden; however, their presence was known, giving rise to one of Kentucky's most remembered folklore stories. The forts in Kentucky were normally dry, without a water source, since farm animals were often quartered inside at night to keep marauding Indians from stealing them.

On the morning of August 16, it was decided a contingent of pioneer ladies led by Polly Hawkins Craig would fetch water from a spring located a short distance from the fort. Did the woman really fetch the water and return safely, against an army that was partially commanded by Capt. McKee, who had permitted earlier the Indian atrocities at Ruddle and Martin Stations? And, wouldn't the defenders have capitulated if the women were captured? Historians can only speculate. The author of this article is a direct descendent of Polly Hawkins Craig; her son John was the temporary commander of the fort during the siege.



Dainel Boone is a legendary figure throughout the history of early Kentucky. He was an active participant in the Battle of Blue Licks.

Eventually Caldwell's force showed themselves, but never mounted a serious assault. Toward the middle of the day of the 16th a relief company arrived from Lexington. After a brief skirmish with the Indians, 17 rode into the fort and the remainder withdrew to Lexington for additional reinforcements. The skirmish at the station continued, resulting in the deaths of five militiamen. Shortly after sunrise on the 17th, Caldwell's Army withdrew, after destroying crops and the buildings located outside the station, and returned to Ruddle Station. They proceeded north along a hunter's path.

On the morning of August 18, 182 mostly mounted Militiamen reinforcements arrived at Bryan's Station.

This engraving is reproduced from "Virginia's Western War 1775-1786" by Neal Hammon. Depicted is a contingent of pioneer ladies led by Polly Hawkins Craig fetching water a short distance from the fort on August 16, 1782. The accompanying article describes what happened. The DAR Kentucky Society has a Chapter named for Ms. Craig.

Col. John Todd, from Fayette County, was the ranking officer of those assembled. LTC Stephen Trigg, from Lincoln County, commanded 130 men, and LTC Daniel Boone, from Fayette County, commanded 50 men. A large contingent was expected to arrive a few days later from St. Asaph's in Lincoln County under the command of Col. Benjamin Logan. The last troops arrived by mid-morning, and the mounted militia began the pursuit of Caldwell's forces, passing Ruddle Station about halfway to Lower Blue Lick. There are two licks located close together – a smaller lick on the south side of the Licking River and a larger one on the north side.

BATTLE OF BLUE LICKS TAKES PLACE

By evening of August 18, Caldwell's Army had camped at the Licks. By the next morning, August 19th, they knew the location of Col. Todd's forces – only a few miles south of the lick. To meet the Kentucky militia, Caldwell placed his men on both sides of a ridge, about 3,500 feet north of the Licking River Ford. The ford itself was a very narrow and shallow crossing located at the bottom of a U-shaped bend in the Licking River. The position was ideal, allowing a withdrawal route for the defenders and cover (tree line), but not for attackers, who had the river behind them and open fields to cross.

What happened next is the subject of a great deal of speculation. The account that best described the situation was by Capt. Gabriel Madison:

> "We halted till sunup on the 19th within four miles of the Lick. Then marching in three parallel lines to the heights opposite the Blue Lick, where, on discovering a party of the Enemy...No gen'l order given after this period, the spies, found the Enemy...had gone on, Major Megary crossed with his division, after which Colo Trigg with his, and Col. Boon following..."

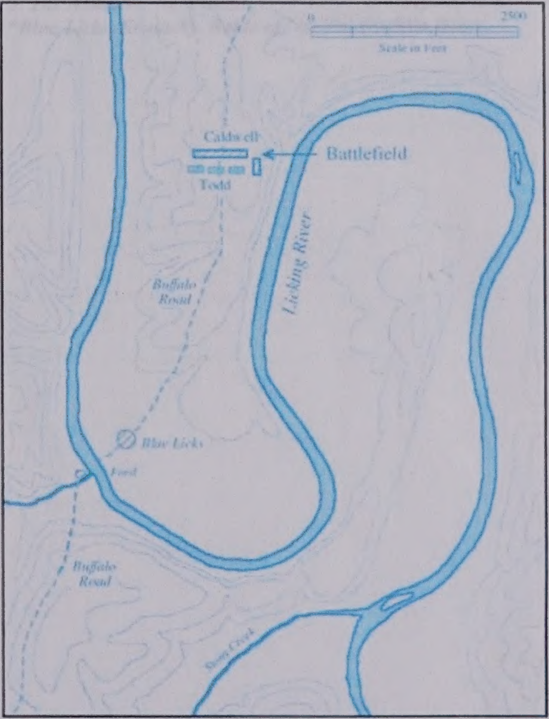
Another account, less likely but more popular as another one of Kentucky's folklore stories, had the Militia Army stopped on the south side of the Licking River to discuss their strategy when Maj. McGary issued his challenge and the troops followed. McGary spurred his horse into the water, calling out:

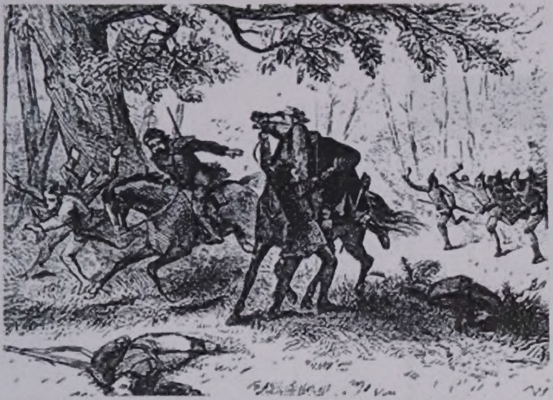
McGary, fording the river at the narrow ford then advancing to within 200 yards of the tree line before waiting to attack Caldwell's forces. Daniel Boone and Capt. Patterson's Fayette County troops moved to the left, with Trigg's Lincoln county troops under Major McGary and Major Harlin to the middle of the line, with Capt. Bulger on the right. The line covering 600 yards consisted of 130 men, since every tenth man secured the horses. The river would prevent a quick withdrawal.

The attack started around 7:30 to 8:00 AM with a mounted assault under Harlin. About the same time, Boone and Capt. Patterson's forces advanced. While Boone and Patterson were successfully pushing the enemy back, Harlin's mounted infantry suffered heavily. The Indians flanked Bulger's troops with an early casualty of Lt. Col. Trigg, followed by Col. Todd and Capt. Bulger. Bulger's men were outflanked, and the line started retreating from right to left. Panic spread down the line with McGary's ordering a retreat. He then rode to warn Boone, who was advancing in the woods.



Note how the opposing forces were deployed at the beginning of the Battle of Blue Licks. The British and Indians were under the oveall command of Captain William Caldwell, while the Americans were commanded by Col. John Todd. (Map courtesy Neal Hammon.)

After McGary's warning Boone realized the Indians now were in the rear of his position. Daniel Boone ordered his men and his son Israel to mount up and break through the Indians. Capt. Peterson, who was wounded in a previous battle, returned toward the ford leaving Boone in charge. Aaron Reynolds insisted Capt. Peterson take his horse and escape. Israel waited for his



During the Battle of Blue Licks, Aaron Reynolds helped Captain Robert Patterson escape, giving up his own horse. He was rewarded 200 acres of good land.

In fifteen minutes the battle was over. Seventy-seven Virginians were killed, with many of the men being killed after being captured, resulting in only 11 captives being taken to Fort Detroit. Colonel Logan's relief force buried the dead. Indian raids continued south of the Ohio river, and on November 4, George Rogers Clark led an army of 1,128 militia troops across the Ohio to attack the Ohio Indian Nation. Included were Col. Benjamin Logan and now full Colonel Daniel Boone.

This is what she has been trying to prove to this Purtee/Partee line....Yes she SHOULD fit with mine at this point!

Her Jospeh Partee(Purtee) should be one of the children of my Joseph Partee b.1795-PA and married to Clarinda Kibble b.abt.1795PA

*I do have Joseph Partee b.1795-PA, son of John Partee b.1765-Pa/married to Nancy Williams b.abt 1765-MD -this John Partee is son of James Partee b.abt.1730-France married to Deborah Hall b.abt 1735-Md..

*I kept my database under Partee spelling as this is what is used more in the Defiance/Williams Co. records when the group born in the 1795 time frame gets recorded as..

I hope you might be able to she some light or guidance to Darla..

Warmest Regards,

Dear Dan,

Nice to hear from you. This ancestor searching has some facinating rewards. We have had visits from folks we didn't know just a few short years ago and the correspondence ~~has~~ with everyone has been lots of fun.

I am sending a copy of the "Historical Sketch" that was read at the first BROWN-PARTEE family reunion held probably in 1900. There is fairly good evidence that it was that year. We have a cousin who is 102years, living in Defiance, Ohio and May remembers well those gatherings. The sketch says they are meeting on the Infirmary grounds. The first picture we have was taken at the Old Rural Chapel, on the banks of the Tiffin River and bordering on the Infirmary grounds. Grahdma Brown is in the picture and she died in 1902. May says 1900 because of some of the babies and children who are in the picture. The writer says, "the turn of the century." Who wrote it? Well May says, Frank who is her father, Anna thinks maybe it was grandma because she has the original. I still haven't been to Ohio so have not compared the original with the typed copy.

So- your James Partee and my Capt. John Partee are brothers and our first common ancestor is John Partee and his wife Nancy WILLIAMS. They are both buried on the little cem, on the banks of the Tiffin River, now known as the Noble-Tiffin Cem. but to all the folk that have lived in the area formmany years it is known as the old WEBB Cem.

Do you know where they're bur?

Now it looks like I'm the 100 year old cousin but - not quite!

Well, when are you going to visit us?

Are you interested in ther line only or in the total picture and in going back still further. I will continue to gather all the information I can find on all lines. This winter hopefully I will pull together all the info that I now have so that it can be duplicated instead of having to do a special bit with each new cousin I find.

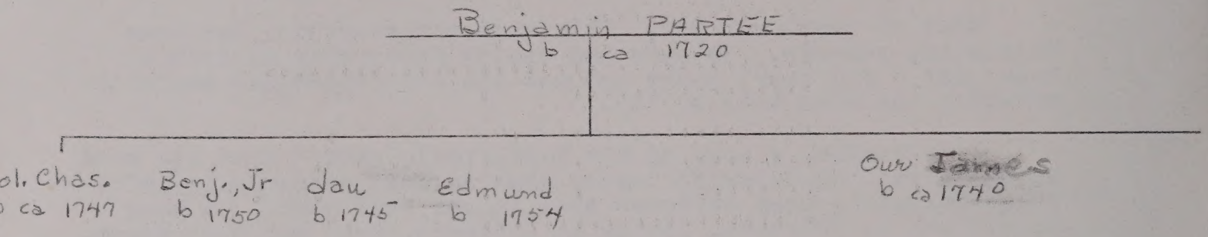
A Mrs Pugh, first name Lucy of Ripley Tenn. has done a great deal of research on the southern Partees. I have tried to get in touch with her But have not been successful. I do not have her complete address and my letter was returned. There is a ----
Believe I'll draw again instead typing this out.--



I have Edmunds application for ReV. War pension; Col. Chas Partee's name is on the statue in the court house sq. in Nashville, TN. There are other DAR papers that I have not searched. It appears that "our John" could be a brother to the four mentioned. One DAR paper says they came from the vacinity of Versailles, France. No source was given but its a lead.

It would be great to have several people working on the Partees and pool our efforts. I feel sure that the Ohio Partees and the southern ones are related. We just need to make the connection.

I will just add a bit about myself as its easier to correspond if one knows something about the person one is writing to.

I was born in Farmer, Ohio, 27 Aug. 1918. so you see I'm 67 years old. Should have added Defiance County. Was in military service during WW 11 and in 1951 came to the Washington D.C. area and spent my working years at National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md. I'm a retired Medical Technologist and my brother, sister-in law and I built a house in Carroll Valley just eight miles west of Gettysburg, PA and all live here in the valley.

I look forward to hearing from you again. Feel free to send Mrs. Graham what you think she would be interested in and again hopefully we can pool our research. I have just way too much to duplicate it all and perhaps you alseady have some of it. Will do all I can to answer questions you may have and will appreciate any leads that you may find. Hopefully this winter I can spend quite a few hours at the DAR Library, Archives and Library of Congress. Hope this info will be of help to you.

Sincerely,

Roena

Dear Mr. Taylor

In regard to your query in the July/Aug. Genealogical Helper, perhaps this information may be helpful and then again as I began to sort thru the file it turns out to have a few problems. However, in regard to James PARTEE and Charlotte REID not everyone agrees as to the parents of James. So this is the best I can do and here is the information.as

In a family history read at the 1st family reunion in 1900 or 1901 at the old Rural Chapel which still stands along the banks of the Tiffin River, one paragraph begins: "John PARTEE, Sr. brother of George the soldier under Wayne was born in KY about the year 1765, married Nancy WILLIAMS himself and two sons James and Joseph were soldiers in the 2 War with England and were with Gen. Hull at the disgraceful surrender of Detroit, one of the foulest blots in American History, moved with his family to Ross Co., OH at an early date, again moved to Defiance in 1824 and settled on a farm now adjoining the County Infirmary, where he died in 1846. Grandma PARTEE died i in 1844, the exact age on neither is known. At the time they settled on the land the Indians were incamped on the place, but silently moved away the day following. Of the family were 10 children. George and one sister unmarried, Elizabeth married to John LAWRENCE, James to Miss PERKINS, of their living children are Mrs. Nancy Wissler and Mrs Rosenthal of Williams County who is the dau of his second wife and who was a sister of Thomas REID. James died in 1869, he was a pioneer of the Maumee Valley in 1817."

I copied this as typed. My cousin has the original and I'm going to ask her to have it zeroxed. Perhaps we should take a second look to see if the typed copy contains discrepencies.

My second great grandparents are the John and Nancy PARTEE mentioned at the beginning of the paragraph.

On a family sheet in my files(don't know the compiler) Enos PARTEE son of George and Rachel HAGUE has a son James. The compiler entered the marriage of Charlotte to him which is 2 Aug 1840. There is a questionmark beside the entry. It appears the compiler was working from dates and places and it is true that the birth dates of the two James are very close. It could also be that John's James could have married a sister or cousin since the history does not give her first name. This date can probably be verified in the Williams County, Ohio records.

Dear Roger:

I have had to depend on your generosity for so much. The [illegible] of abstract you sent me finally proved the descent of my John P. Pierce. I wrote the [illegible] Library and they sent me many copies of things that had to do with "John Pierce". There are so many John's that I was totally [illegible]. I looked at the Atlas Page of Noble Township and there on the spot of land that matched the legal description of your deed, was the name J.P. Pierce. So, my great grandfather is indeed the son of James H. Pierce. With all the thanks I can muster, Love, Carol Adams

My search continues for more information on John and Nancy (Williams) PARTEE. His father was also John, born probably around 1740.

It's an interesting family and I'm enjoying the challenge of the search.

Hope you have had a good response from your query and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

HERE the eye of the visitant falls upon a view of the city over which beauty lovers have raved since the pioneer grandsire first laid his hand-hewn sills on the crest of what has become known as "Hickory Hill."

The broad expanse includes the lovely curves of the river past the Latchaw meadow lands to the mouth of the Tiffin, then down through the bridges, skirting the Fort Ground to the distant Island and the sandy banks of yellow beyond — the river a gleaming mirror in the sunlight and a veritable "Field of the Cloth of Gold" at night.

Truly, they who draw the latch string which has always hung outside this door, receive not only the proverbial "loaf to nourish the body" but also "the hyacinth to feed the soul," for Hickory Hill now entertains "Paying Guests." As yet, GROUP RESERVATION only.

Parties — Breakfast, Luncheon, Dinner and Evening Bridge; Banquets for Clubs, Classes, Sororities, Fraternities and Faculties, Business Firms, — all organizations of like nature as well as Children's Parties 'round the "Little Old Log Cabin in the Lane."

For various reasons, often home entertainment is not convenient, neither are all people golfers with club house privileges.

To bridge that gap is the hope of this new enterprise and to that end is extended the hospitality of this old home with its restful atmosphere of other days pervading the large rooms, which, with the provision of small tables, will easily care for sixty guests.

2. CATHERINE^5 PARTEE (JOHN P.^{4}, JAMES D.^{3}, JOHN^2 PURTEE, JAMES^1) was born March 30, 1857. She married CALVIN L. WILSHIRE. He was born in Indiana.

Children of CATHERINE PARTEE and CALVIN WILSHIRE are:

i. MABEL^6 WILSHIRE.
ii. MARY WILSHIRE.
iii. CHARLES WILSHIRE.
iv. WALLACE WILSHIRE.

3. SARAH ANN^5 PARTEE (JOHN P.^{4}, JAMES D.^{3}, JOHN^2 PURTEE, JAMES^1) was born March 29, 1854 in Brunersburg, Defiance Co, Ohio, and died October 03, 1947 in Maywood, Ill. She married JAMES FRANKLIN CRANDALL May 07, 1874 in Defiance, Ohio, son of NELSON CRANDALL and MARY LIVERMORE. He was born February 28, 1844 in Smithville, New York, and died October 04, 1931 in Dayton, Ohio Soldiers Home.

Notes for SARAH ANN PARTEE:
In 1976, I corresponded with a cousin in Toledo, Ohio named Marjorie "Bide" Miller Conyers. She wrote me with some interesting letters concerning James and Sallie. "Jumping back to the Crandalls- Jim Crandall...had a sister, Louisa, who they called "Weedie", who married Samuel Rohn and lived in Defiance. I think it was through Jim's coming from the east to visit this sister that he met grandma, Sarah, whom they always called Sallie. (She insisted it be spelled that way). She was living with her parents in Brunersburg and was said to be the most beautiful girl in the countryside. Jim fell in love and I think that explains why he settled in Defiance. He was 10 years older than grandma. he was a handsome young man who had already served in the Civil War. He was evidently in demand as a speaker because of an article last year in the Toledo Blade giving a little rundown of how the 4th of July had been observed 100 years ago, carried this little item among other things: 'Antwerp is very much excited over the coming celebration. There will be a parade headed by a band of 38 girls to represent the Goddess of Liberty and her 37 stars. There was an oration by the eloquent Mr. Crandall of Defiance.' I suppose you know that he volunteered to serve in the Spanish-American War when he was about 50 years old, and headed up the company from Defiance and surrounding countryside. He was made captain and went to Cuba." In another letter, written in 1977, Bide writes: "Grandpa and Grandma Partee (John P. and Mary) bought a big lot on the Maumee River in 1863 and built a house. In fact, there were two houses on the lot built exactly alike. I don't know if John built them both or if the second was built when James Crandall married Sallie. In any event, the two families lived there side by side for many years...Most of the Crandalls had been born in that house and all four of us Millers were born there. Grandma Partee (Sallie's mother)lived next door in her charming house which was not modernized. She still had a cistern and an outside bathroom, feather beds, beautiful handmade quilts, lovely old furniture, some of which had been made by her father, Peter Zellers. She was a vigorous, sturdy, determined little woman....She had no expenses other than her own "keep" because my Dad (Miller) paid the taxes, etc. In the early years, she still kept chickens which provided her with eggs and meat. She did enough canning to take care of her on many vegetables, fruit, jams and jellies. She dried corn the old-fashioned was. When her money finally ran low, Grandpa and Grandma Crandall (James and Sallie) sent her a small stipend each month for actual cash and my parents did a great deal, too. Dad often bought extra coal or wood for her when he was buying for us...Grandma was always so clean and starched and made delicious cookies. She had her own little garden for years, and tended it herself. Dad had it ploughed but she took it from there. She still was doing that when she was well up in her 80's. I can see her yet in her sunbonnet, out pulling weeds of watering. Your grandparents (John and Kathleen Crandall) always loved to come back to Defiance because that was Uncle Johns old home, too. He had many fond memories of swimming in the river and so many things. He loved to talk to his sister "Puss", as they called my mother, Edith May. She used to cook up a storm and we had wonderful picnics on our picnic table on the hill. It was such a change from their Chicago hustle-bustle. So restful for Uncle John".

Notes for JAMES FRANKLIN CRANDALL:
James Franklin Crandall served in the Civil War and wrote this letter sometime after 1900:

Dear Mamma:

I was born in Smithville, Chenango County, New York on February 28, 1844. I served in the Civil War in the 52d Regt. Illinois Volunteers as Sergeant and First Sergeant from August 15, 1861 to September 20, 1864. In the 8th US Artillery Heavy (C) from last above date as 2d Lt. to March 20, 1866. Was married to Sarah A. Partee at Defiance, Ohio by Rev B.W. Slagle of said above named city on May 7, 1874.

Served in the Spanish American War in the U.S. and Cuba from June 2, 1898 until May 29, 1899. (My great-grandfather was 54 years old when he volunteered for Spanish-American Service. His Civil War uniform, sword, and cap are still in my possession. His rifle, US Springfield Long Rifle, is in the possession of my brother, Robert Isaacson.

In the book "History of Defiance County, Ohio-1883", I found the following reference to James Franklin: "On the evening of January 19, 1875, the following gentlemen met in the lodge room of the Sons of Temperance in Peterson's block, for the purpose of organizing a lodge of Knights of Honor of the World". Among those inducted were James Franklin Crandall and his brother Lysander.

The following is taken from the "Livermore Family in America", Walter Eliot Thwing, W.B. Clarke, 1902:
"James Franklin Crandall was born February 28, 1844, in Smithville, NY; married May 7, 1874, in Defiance, Ohio, Sarah Ann, daughter of John P. and Mary Ann Partee, born there March 29, 1854. He moved with his parents to Seville, Ohio in the fall of 1854, and then to Ashtabula, his father having been called there as Pastor of the First Baptist Church. He was educated in the common and union schools, and in December 1860, started West to make his fortune, locating in Kanesville, Kane Co, Illinois, where he became a clerk in a general store kept by his brother-in-law, Bela A. Coy. He enlisted August 13, 1861 in Company A, 52nd Regt, Ill Vols, and was appointed a sergeant. At the battle of Corinth, Miss, he was promoted to first sergeant; he took part in the battles at Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Corinth, Chewalla, Big Bear Creek, and the Atlanta campaign. On Sept 20, 1864, he was commissioned 2nd Lt in the 8th U.S.C. Heavy Artillery, and ordered to Paducah, Ky where he was assigned by the regimental commander to the recruiting service to recruit a company (L) for the completion of the regiment, which he did; the regiment was ordered to Washington, D.C. in March, 1865, then to City Point, Va; then to Richmond, and finally to Victoria, Texas where they were stationed until March 20, 1866 when they were mustered out. After the war he settled in Defiance, Ohio and engaged with his brother, Lysander Emerson Crandall, in the dry goods business under the firm name of Crandall Brothers. In 1892 he was elected a member of the city council, re-elected in 1894, and chosen its president. At the breaking out of the war with Spain, he was commissioned Captain in the 6th U.S. Regiment, Ohio Vols serving in the United States and Cuba. He is now in the U.S. Mail service in Chicago, IL where he lives with the family."

6. JOHN NELSON^6 CRANDALL (SARAH ANN^5 PARTEE, JOHN P.^{4}, JAMES D.^{3}, JOHN^2 PURTEE, JAMES^1) was born March 14, 1879 in Defiance, Ohio, and died January 21, 1960 in Pomona, Calif. He married KATHLEEN GORMAN May 07, 1902 in Salt Lake, Utah, daughter of MICHAEL GORMAN and BRIDGID MADDEN. She was born August 04, 1881 in Fulton, Illinois, and died 1968 in Knoxville, Illinois.

Notes for JOHN NELSON CRANDALL:
"Ten dollars a month rent for a seven-room house on Madison Avenue in Brookfield, Illinois, which was increased to $12 a month after a few months because the landlord installed a new furnace. This fact was recalled this week by Mr and Mrs John N. Crandall, who first came to Brookfield in 1903. Mr Crandall, manager of the Chicago Telegraph Office of the Burlington Lines, is retiring this week after completing 48 years of service with the company. Next week, they plan to leave for Pomona, Calif. where they recently purchased a home..." So states a newspaper article written August 12, 1948 in the Brookfield Magnet. They resided in their home at 1234 Dudley St, Pomona, Calif for the next 12 years. When John died in 1960, Kathleen moved back to Illinois where she resided with her daughters and at the Knoxville, IL Retirement Home, until her death in 1966. Both are buried in Mt Carmel Cemetery in Hillside, Illinois.
An article written in the Salt Lake Herald dated Thursday, May 8, 1902 states: "the marriage of Miss Kathleen Gorman of Chicago to Mr J.N. Crandall of the same place was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the St Marys Cathedral by the Rev. Father Kiely. Miss Gorman, who has been the manager of the Salt Lake Floral company for the past six months, has made a number of warm friends in the city who will be glad to learn of her happiness. The groom is the son of a well known businessman of Chicago. The wedding was a quiet affair, being witnessed by only the intimate friends of the bride and groom. The bride wore a dainty gown of white plisse over taffeta, with a yoke of real lace. Mr and Mrs Crandall will leave shortly for Denver, where they will make their future home".

Notes for KATHLEEN GORMAN:
Gramma Crandall was an experienced seamstress and made most of my dressy clothes when I was young. She also had an eye for decorating and excellent taste. Her home was full of beautiful cut glass, oriental rugs, and books. She was a very imposing looking woman. Her white hair was pulled back in waves and her dark eyes flashed. My brother and I were rather afraid of her. She had little patience for our behavior and insisted on her house rules. But, our grandfather was kind, loving and sweet and we would wait for his arrival every night. He worked in the "Loop" in Chicago at the Burlington Railroad as its chief telegrapher. He would ride the train in the morning and back at night. We would watch for him walking across the vacant lot on the corner and run for him to be scooped up in his arms and carried back to the house. After dinner, which was always delicious as Gramma was about the best cook in the world, we would sit in the little garden room with the chairs that had lion head arms, and he would read the newspaper to us. I remember the Sunday morning in 1941, listening to Gabriel Heatter on his big Edison radio, that the War had started with the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Both my grandparents cried.

Children of JOHN CRANDALL and KATHLEEN GORMAN are:

i. BUNNY[7] CRANDALL, d. August 13, 1910, Brookfield, Ill.

ii. KATHLEEN CRANDALL, b. December 07, 1903; d. April 15, 1988; m. LESTER BARRY, September 01, 1926, Chicago, Illinois; b. July 08, 1896; d. February 1968.

iii. JOAN NATHALIA CRANDALL, b. December 16, 1911, Congress Park, Il; d. June 30, 1975, St Marys Hospital, Galesburg, Il; m. CARL ENDELL ISAACSON, June 01, 1935, Chicago, Illinois; b. May 08, 1909, Clover Tshp, Henry Co, Illinois.

Notes for JOAN NATHALIA CRANDALL:

My mother was a very pretty woman and one of my earliest memories of her when I was 3 or 4 years old. She and Dad were going out for the evening and before they left, she came to my room to tuck me in for the night. Her dark, curly hair was pulled up into a pompador in front and sides and the rest softly curled down her back. She was dressed in a red jersey dress with black polka dots. A black cross with black jet beads hung around her neck and she smelled of "Straw Hat" perfume. i was certain that no other mother in the world was more beautiful.

Mother attended and graduated from Knox College in Galesburg, Illinois. She majored in literature and fine arts and was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She was a school teacher for one year before her marriage to my father and taught in a one room school near Knoxville, Illinois. Her pay was $40 per month and she had to provide her own coal. She and Dad were dating during this time and he would come before he went to work and light her little coal stove. Teachers had to sign contracts that they would not marry while performing their teaching duties. She and Dad decided to marry and that ended her teaching career until the late 1950's when things changed. She returned to the public elementary school system in Galesburg, Illinois and taught there until one year before her death. She was a dedicated teacher and loved her work. I spoke with one of her co-workers, after her death, who said " the world would be a lonely place without Joannie". How true it is.

Mom and Dad did skits and performed their Swedish immigrant act for many clubs, reunions, and even the Iowa State Fair. Our family friend, Warren First, accompanied them on the piano or organ. Mom had severe stage fright, so Dad assured her that all she would have to do is stand and stare and he'd do the rest, and he did! Mom, dressed in a hokey dress and a black flat straw hat with a sunflower standing on a tall stem in the front, would dead pan the audience while Dad, dressed in a black frock coat, red wig and black pork pie hat, would tell stories, cajole her, talk with a Swedish accent and thoroughly delight the audience. How she could stand there without cracking a smile was a talent in itself. The act would close with Dad giving the "Swedish Ball Game" (Run, Oley, run!) and them singing harmony to "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie" and When you wore a Tulip and I wore a Big Red Rose".

Two days before she unexpectedly died of a heart attack, she called me and told me she couldn't have had a finer daughter. To the very end she was selfless and thinking of others. Very few daughters are given the chance to hear those words and be able to say I love you, Mom..

7. HELEN LOUISE[6] CRANDALL (SARAH ANN[5] PARTEE, JOHN P.[4], JAMES D.[3], JOHN[2] PURTEE, JAMES[1]) was born November 08, 1888, and died November 09, 1961 in Chicago, Illinois. She married (1) WILLIAM LOEVEN in Chicago, Illinois. He died in Chicago, Illinois. She married (2) UNKNOWN SMITH.

Letters written to me by my grand[illegible] [illegible] daughter (John - [illegible] - Marjorie)

January 5, 1977

Dear Carol,

Thank you for all the interesting and material - the old Bible is a good source of information. Also appreciated your Christmas card.

Some of the information regarding your grandfather (or Uncle John) I was familiar with - but not all. I did not know when Aunt Kitty and passed on and I didn't know where either of them was buried. When Uncle John died, [illegible] called me and my two brothers and I went [illegible], but no one ever notified us when Aunt Kitty passed on.

I'm surprised and sorry to learn that your mother and her sister were estranged - for how long? Over religion, perhaps? Under those circumstances, do you have any contact with your Aunt Ruth or her children? For a Catholic family, they certainly have a lot of divorces! That was all news to me. I exchanged Christmas cards with Aunt Kitty and Uncle John for many years after my mother died. I, too, always loved him. He was what they mean by a "gentleman" - a gentle man. I liked Aunt Kitty, too, as far as that goes, because she was lively and bouncy, always dressed so well and I enjoyed having them come [illegible] did every few years when I was young and living at [illegible]

As far as Aunt Kitty being [illegible] and family information, almost nothing I know nothing [illegible]s. I always got the impression, though, that the C[illegible] chilled at first when when let it be known he wanted [illegible] the religion, of course, and I think they felt [illegible] he himself." As she probably came from a rather po[illegible] "social" standing. I don't know this for a fact - it is an impression I gathered. In any event, they accepted her and so far as I know, really loved her. The Crandalls didn't have money but they were "fine, old family."

As far as religion - grandma Crandall (Hallie) had been brought up a Methodist as was her mother, great-grandma [illegible]. Hallie was about [illegible] when she was feeling restless and a little "down" and a neighbor or friend introduced her to Christian Science. It was a tremendous help to her and she studied it, joined the church and lived it strongly the rest of her life. She interested my mother in it, and although there was no church in [illegible], she read the literature and had much help from it. My elder brother, Don, was cured of infantile paralysis through Christian Science. He was so ill that mother became frightened and asked grandma to come from Chicago to be with her. Of course there was a doctor in attendance several times a day because my dad did not embrace Science - but when the night came that the doctor told my dad my brother could not live, my dad finally gave his OK for grandma Crandall to do what she could with her religion - the next day when the doctor came and found Don not only still alive but better, he was simply flabbergasted. Don got well, not even a limp. My sister Dorothy eventually became interested and an active church member for years, but neither of my brothers accepted it. Dad and she both were Presbyterians.

Letters written to me by my grandfathers sister's daughter (John - Edith May - Marjorie).

January 5, 1977

Dear Carol:

Thank you for all the information and material - the old Bible is a good source of information. Also appreciated your Christmas card.

Some of the information regarding your grandfather (my Uncle John) I was familiar with - but not all. I did not know when Aunt Kitty had passed on and I didn't know where either of them was buried. When Uncle John died, Delores called me and my two brothers and I sent flowers, but no one ever notified us when Aunt Kitty passed on.

I'm surprised and sorry to learn that your mother and her sister were estranged - for how long? Over religion, perhaps? Under those circumstances, do you have any contact with your Aunt Kath or her children? For a Catholic family, they certainly have a lot of divorces! That was all news to me. I exchanged Christmas cards with Aunt Kitty and Uncle John for many years after my mother died. I, too, always loved him. He was what they mean by a "gentleman" - a gentle man. I liked Aunt Kitty, too, so far as that goes, because she was lively and snappy, always dressed so well and I enjoyed having them come for visits, which they did every few years when I was young and living at home.

So far as Aunt Kitty being a little secretive about family information- I must confess I knew nothing, really, about her family. I always got the impression, though, that the Crandall's weren't too thrilled at first when John let it be known he wanted to marry her, because of the religion, of course, and I think they felt John was marrying "beneath himself." So she probably came from a rather poor Irish family with no "social" standing. I don't know this for a fact - it is an impression I gathered. In any event, they accepted her and so far as I know, really liked her. The Crandalls didn't have money but they were "fine, old family."

So far as religion - grandma Crandall (Sallie) had been brought up a Methodist as was her mother, great-grandma Partee. Sallie was about XXX 60 when she was feeling restless and a little "down" and a neighbor or friend introduced her to Christian Science. It was a tremendous help to her and she studied it, joined the church and lived it strongly the rest of her life. She introduced my mother to it, and although there was no church in Defiance, she read the literature and had much help from it. My elder brother, Bub, was cured of infantile paralysis through Christian Science. He was so ill that mother became frightened and asked grandma to come from Chicago to be with her. Of course there was a doctor in attendance several times a day because my dad did not embrace Science - but when the night came that the doctor told my dad my brother could not live, my dad finally gave his OK for grandma Crandall to do what she could with her religion - the next day when the doctor came and found Bub not only still alive but better, he was simply flabbergasted. Bub got well, not even a limp. My sister Dorothy eventually became interested and an active church member for years, but neither of my brothers accepted it. Bub and Jim both were Presbyterians.

As for me, great-grandma Partee took me with her to the Methodist Church when I was a toddler, but when I was a little elder, I switched over to the Presbyterian Church in Defiance - but I have always had an interest in Christian Science - I'm not a church member, but I do read it. My husband is Lutheran but I must confess, not a member, either.

As I understand it with Uncle John, they didn't have any serious family arguments over religion until sometime after they had been married many years. Uncle John's work was high-pressure and he may have been going through "his change of life". Anyway, he was terribly nervous and depressed and desperately searching for help. That's when he started going to lectures with his mother. I don't think he continued it after he became better again. But that was the period when he worried so terribly that he had done the wrong thing in letting his girls be brought up Catholic. I think it all blew over again though.

By the way, I was interested in learning that your father is a second generation Swede - my husband is a Dane from Nebraska. He was born in Iowa.

I was thrilled to know that you have grandpa Crandall's sword! I had wondered and wondered because I often heard my mother speak of it and I know it was one of his prized possessions and I didn't know where it was and so hoped it hadn't been lost. Pass it along to one of your boys and ask them to treasure it. And treasure the cut glass pitcher. The Crandalls moved around so much (Jim and Sallie) that they didn't have too many possessions toward the end. I have a few Partee things but not a thing of the Crandalls except a few precious letters grandma gave me. She called them "stocking letters" and indeed, she had them stuffed in the toe of a stocking. They were written during a winter when grandpa had gone east looking for work. Grandma and the children wrote to him faithfully and he saved the letters. Another time, I'll copy a few of the ones Uncle John wrote. They are surprisingly good (from all the children) considering their young age.

Now - Bob Miller did not have as complete a record as I thought. What he has is this: When he was small, my mother made up a nursery rhyme book, including rhymes of her own, and stories and other scraps of information. In the front, she had written the Livermore lineage to the extent she knew it. It does not include spouses, but it is of some help I think.

Daniel Livermore, 1st
His son, Daniel Livermore, 2nd
Daniel's son, John
John's son, John who came to America in 1638
John's son, Abraham
Abraham's son, Abel who was the father of Polly Livermore
Polly's son, Capt. James F. Crandall

By the time you add your grandfather, your mother, yourself and your children, I think that's about 11 generations.

Bob said that since the Livermores didn't come as early as the Pilgrims who were mostly very poor people, and that some of those who came later were of the better classes, there possibly is some basis for the story that the Livermores were "of the nobility." It doesn't matter to me if they were or not, it's just fun to track them down.

genealogy

Incidentally, I'll find out what year Bob was graduated from Knox.

Do you have this information on the Livermores - there was a Samuel Livermore who wrote a book called, "The History of Block Island"? I think it is still available through the ~~historical~~ society. He was away ahead of his time in thinking Block Island was important. In recent years, there is much interest in it. I'm not sure if he is a distant uncle or cousin.

Also, Harriet Livermore is mentioned in Whittier's "Snowbound." (not by name) She was the - "a not unfeared, half-welcome guest,
Rebuking with her cultured phrase
Our homeliness of words and ways."

I think she was quite a character, perhaps a women's libber way back then so they thought she was peculiar. I think she went traipsing off to India as a reformer of some kind and they thought she was a little daft, but since they honored crazy people, she was treated with great kindness. - I don't know, again, whether she was a distant aunt or distant cousin.

When I read the copies from "History of Defiance County, Ohio, 1883, I realized it was taken from a book that I am lucky enough to have in my possession! There are other tidbits in the same book which I'll copy for you unless you already have it. It lists both grandpa James Crandall and great-grandpa John P. Partee as members of the "Knights of Honor" and it also mentions the Perkins family, John, whose daughter married James Partee. There are so many Partees who settled around Brunersburg at about the same time, that I'm inclined to think most of them are shirt-tail relation but it's hard to pinpoint. I know there were a few that we didn't have anything to do with - although they were shirt-tail relatives but lived such different lives.

I felt so bad when I learned that you had actually been to the Fort Grounds at Defiance and didn't know that you were less than a mile away from the old homestead.

Grandpa and grandma Partee, John P. and Mary, bought a big lot on the Maumee river in 1863 and built a house. In fact, there were two houses on the lot - built exactly alike. I don't know if John built them both or if the second was built when James Crandall married Sallie. In any event, the two families lived there side by side for many years. (Except for the times the Crandall's were in Leipsic or the east or something). When my father, Frank Miller and Edith Crandall were to be married, my dad thought it was such a lovely spot that he bought both houses and lots. The Crandalls went to Chicago about that time, I think, and my parents moved into that house, which my dad modernized. Most of the Crandall children had been born in that house and all four of us Millers were born there. Grandma Partee lived next door in her charming house which was not modernized. She still had a cistern and an outside bathroom, feather beds, beautiful handmade quilts, lovely old furniture, some of which had been made by her father, Peter Zellers. She was a vigorous, sturdy, determined little woman (which may be the Zellers reference). She had no expenses other than her own "keep" because my dad paid the taxes etc.

In the early years, she still kept chickens which provided her with eggs and meat. She did enough canning to take care of her on many vegetables, fruit, jams and jellies. She dried corn the old fashioned way. When her money finally ran low, grandma and grandpa Crandall sent her a small stipend each month for actual cash and my parents did a great deal, too. Dad often bought extra coal or wood for her when he was buying for us - we sent over many a plate of good food for her dinner and of course had her with us for all holidays unless she was going to a sister's house. Mother made cute bonnets and some dresses and grandma was always so clean and starched and made delicious cookies. She had her own little garden for years, and tended it herself. Dad had it ploughed for her at the start, but she took it from there. She still was doing that when she was well up in her 80's. I can see her yet, in her sunbonnet, out pulling weeds or watering. All in all, she lived comfortably and could always have a brother or someone come to visit for a week or more. Grandma and grandpa always stayed there when they came to Defiance for a long summer visit, up until she was about 90 and was falling over her little rag rugs too much. That was when she moved in with us and my dad did a huge remodeling job.

He had her house moved over next to ours - knocked off porches, changed partitions and made it all one long house. It was really a lovely place - sort of a ranch house long before others were talking about ranch houses. It became known as "Hickory Hill" for the simple reason that my mother rather liked the idea of giving it a name and since there were many hickory trees on the hill to the river, it was a logical choice. Grandma had her own room with her own things in it - didn't have to build fires any more and had electricity instead of her lamps which had frightened mother so - for fear grandma would fall holding a lamp. She lived about 2½ years or so after that, and did not have a long illness. She was truly of good old pioneer stock.

The tea room thing came later, after my father died so suddenly and didn't leave much money. (At least we could never track it down although there were some old friends of his who wanted us to start digging around the hill and checking with out of town banks because they couldn't believe that Frank Miller didn't have some of that fortune left somewhere), but we didn't know where to dig. Anyway, money was short. Some of mother's friends suggested she start giving parties, by reservation, because we had the big, attractive house with tennis court, etc., and loads of silver and china and mother was a wonderful cook and hostess. There were almost no really nice restaurants in town at the time so the idea caught on. Teachers would give card parties there - college fraternities gave banquets, out of town people came bringing guests for Sunday dinner, etc. It was all by reservation only and we saved many days in between for ourselves, but it did help financially over a rough period. She managed to seat 75 once for a college breakfast of some kind. In the winter, people loved the fireplace fire and in the summer they loved the porches, the tennis court and the hill.

My nephew, Robert J. Miller, (son of my brother Edward Hoffman Miller whom we always called "Bub") is also interested in the family tree and I have been told by his mother recently that he has traced the Livermores all the way back to England. I'll write to him and see if he would have some copies made up - one for you and one for me - and offer to pay him for his trouble but I doubt he'll accept.

My nephew, Robert J. mentioned above, whom we call Bob, also went to Knox and was being graduated about the time your husband entered - although I could be off a year or so. If your husband has a yearbook, he could look it up. Bob would be your second cousin. He was active in dramatics and was a top honor student. Went to Yale later, after a hitch in the Korean War. I think he was in ROTC at Knox. He and his charming wife and three sons live in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

If you have Nelson Crandall's bible, you probably have more information about some things than I do, so I'll try to pass along other tidbits and you can feed me things I don't have. My mother had been tremendously interested in all this and had all sorts of old, old newspaper clippings, etc., which went to my sister, Dorothy. When she died, so much of it was carelessly thrown away by her in-laws. I have wept inside about it every time I think of it. Of course, I was like most younger people - didn't care too much during the early days when I was so absorbed in what boy would take me where, and would I have a new dress for the dance. By the time I got around to seriously wanting to know more - so many of the people and the records were gone.

Peter Zeller was a cabinet maker, also farmed I think.

But I do have some.

For instance, I think Mary A. Zeller was born in Germantown, Ohio. Germantown was one of the early Ohio settlements. She came to Brunersburg with her parents when she was about five. You have her father's name - Peter Zeller - her mother was Catherine Landis. Beyond that, I don't know anything about the Landises, but if I find something I'll pass it along. The Zellers had relatives already in Brunersburg - the Bruners, for instance. Great grandmother Mary A. had a brother named Peter after his father, and sisters Catherine, named after her mother and she, too, married a Partee - either brothers or cousins. Then there was Sarah who married a Bruner even though he was some sort of cousin and that was considered disgraceful in those days; and two other sisters whose names escape me at this moment. One of them died either in childbirth or shortly after and her son was reared by Catherine and Obidiah Partee. Catherine was a gentle person and was grandma (Sarah's) favorite aunt on that side of the family.

Catherine

just remembered: one was called "Mandie".

You have traced John Partee's father to James, who was among the earliest settlers at Brunersburg. It was a thriving little village in the early days with their saw and grist mills going. Peter and his family lived in a log cabin - schools were few and far between to start but grandma Mary learned to read somewhere. Brunersburg was really going stronger than Defiance way back then, but when the railroad was to come through there was a fight as to whether it would go through Defiance or Brunersburg ~~to Defiance~~ and Defiance won - which marked a decline in growth of Brunersburg.

Jumping back to the Crandall's - Jim Crandall, your great-grandfather, had a sister Louisa, whom they called "Weedie", who evidently married a Samuel Rohn and they lived in Defiance. I think it was through Jim's coming from the east to visit this sister, that he met grandma - Sarah, whom they always called Sallie. (She insisted it be spelled that way). She was living with her parents in Brunersburg and was said to be the most beautiful girl in the countryside. Jim fell in love and I think that explains why he settled in Defiance. He was 10 years older than grandma.

He was a handsome young man who had already served in the Civil War. He was evidently in demand as a speaker because an article last year in the Toledo Blade giving a little rundown of how the 4th of July had been observed 100 years ago carried this little item among other things:

> "Antwerp is very much excited over the coming celebration." It told of a parade headed by a band of 38 girls to represent the Goddess of Liberty and her 37 Stars. There was an oration by the "eloquent Mr. Crandall of Defiance."

quotes from the Blade of 100 years previous

I suppose you also know that he volunteered to serve in the Spanish American War when he was about 50 years old, and headed up the company from Defiance and surrounding countryside. He was made Captain and went to Cuba. (More about this later if you don't have any information on it).

His sister, Weedie, had three sons, Earl Rohn, Glen Rohn and Ray Rohn. Earl became a banker in Lima, Ohio, and at one time was elected mayor. I'm not sure just what all Glen did but he was talented in writing; Earl became an artist of some note and did covers for the old Collier's magazine.

these boys were 1st cousins of your grandfather John.

I'll hold on to the chart until I have time to dig a ~~xxx~~ little deeper. I think I can fill in at least a few spots. I also have a few letters that grandma Crandall gave me many years ago after my mother died. They were written to "pa" as she called him (grandpa Crandall) when he had gone east to work and the family was still in Defiance. He saved the letters they sent him and some of them are truly touching. Such young kids at the time - Helen was just a baby - but all the older ones wrote remarkably well. I doubt that a copy machine would pick up the old pencil and ink but I'll at least bat out a few of them for you.

Dear Ms. Baes:

Your name was given to me by a fellow researcher. My name is Carol Adams and I am trying to research my great grandmothers family. Her name was Sarah Ann Partee Crandall and she was born in Defiance, Ohio on 3-29-1854 and died in Maywood, Il on 10-3-1947. Her parents were John P. (?-1893) and Mary Ann Zellers Partee (8-24-1830-8-07-1922). She married James Franklin Crandall on May 07, l874. I believe she had a sibling named Catherine who married Calvin Wilshire. Several other researchers have told me that the parents of John P. Partee were James and Elizabeth Perkins Partee but I have no proof. I think that Mary Ann Zellers father was Peter Zellers who came to Defiance in about 1804. Again, no proof. If you recognize any of these names and there is a connection, I would be happy to send you all that I have of current generations. Thanking you in advance for reading my e-mail, I remain sincerely, Carol Adams

MARGARET ROSENDAUL

Margaret Partee Rosendaul was born in Defiance County, May 17, 1841 and died at her home east of Bryan, April 18, 1918 at the age of 76 years, 11 months and one day. She was united in marriage to Frank Rosendaul Nov. 26, 1856 and to them were born 13 children, four of whom have preceded her to the better world. Her husband died November 1914. She leaves to mourn her departure nine children, 6 sons and 3 daughters, 33 grandchildren and 36 great grandchildren with a host of friends. She tried to live a Christian life thinking rather of those about her than herself. She was a good mother and loved her home and was always there doing her duty. And her children were always welcome to come home. A dear mother has gone to her reward where there is no pain or sorrow for her. To leave us was our sorrow and her gain. Oh, death where is thy sting; oh, grave where is thy victory.

The funeral was held at the Beaver Creek Church Sunday April 21, at 1 o'clock. Rev. Davis and Rev. Fredricks officiating and burial in the Shiffler cemetery.

Card of Thanks

The family of Mrs. Rosendaul desire to thank their neighblrs and other friends for many kindnesses rendered to them at the death of our mother, to the choir and pastors, and all others for their words of sympathy and comfort and beautiful flowers.

Dear Roena,

Hope this letter finds you in good health. Sorry that I havn´t gotten back with you in some time.

I have quite a bit of time lately, as I am taking vacation and catching up with my writing and genealogy correspondence. I just got my computer on line, so that helps. I can edit my writing as I go so you don´t see all the mistakes. ha

I will try to print you a pedigree chart of my genealogy. Sarah Matilda Rosendaul married Eugene Duroy but that marriage didn´t last a year as she is shown back with Francis Rosendaul on the following census after the marriage.

I tie into your line with Margaret Partee the wife of Francis Rosendaul.

I sure hope that your doing okey. I see that you are about four months older than my Father, he was born the last of January 1919. He was in WW II, had foot problems and didn´t see much Action. His father was shot in a gun duel when he was 13. So he grew up not having many luxuries. He didn´t know how to spell it either. ha

Have a good Christmas and New Year, thanks for the help with the genealogy.

Take care.

Yours,

Dan R Taylor

P. S. My Grandmother on my Father's side was Myrtle Elwa Duroy the child of Sarag and Eugene Duroy's short marriage.

Drill Near Wauseon—Cleveland parties who sometime ago leased considerable oil south and southwest of Wauseon are about ready to begin active operations in the search for that fluid. The piping is here now and machinery will soon arrive and then business will open up. It has not been definitely settled just where the first test well will be put down. —Expositor.

Milk Question—A meeting of the producers and distributers who supply milk to the city of Toledo, was held at Morenci. One of the producers stated they were not getting high enough price for their milk while another contended there was no market for the product and that milk was being fed to the hogs and cows were being sold. It was proposed to establish a farmers milk distributing station in Toledo and sell the milk at nine cents per quart and at that price the farmers would make a profit.—Wauseon Republican.

MARGARET ROSENDAUL

Margaret Partee Rosendaul was born in Defiance county, May 17, 1841, and died at her home east of Bryan, April 18, 1918 at the age of 76 years, 11 months and one day. She was united in marriage to Frank Rosendaul Nov. 26, 1856 and to them were born 13 children, four of whom have preceded her to the better world. Her husband died November 6, 1914. She leaves to mourn her departure nine children six sons and three daughters, 33 grandchildren and 26 great grandchildren with a host of friends.

She tried to live a christian life thinking rather of those about her than her self. She was a good mother and loved her home and was always there doing her duty. And her children were always welcome to come home. A dear mother has gone to her reward where there is no pain or sorrow for her. To leave us was our sorrow and her gain.

The funeral was held at the Beaver [illegible] Sunday, April 21 at 10 o'clock, Rev. Davis and Rev. Fredricks officiating and burial in the Shiffler cemetery.

Pass the Mustard—Hogs can be raised within the corporate limits of the city of Defiance, according to a new ruling of the health officer. Of course this is nothing new for Defiance. For years they have been hogging all the county offices, county printing and county money, now why shouldn't the 4-legged variety be given a chance along with the 2-legged kind?—Hicksville News.

Found German Flag—A couple of our loyal citizens in driving to Montpelier on Wednesday found a small German penant hanging on a small tree in the river bottoms north of [illegible]. As to how it came to be placed there is a question, or from where it was obtained originally is as much of a mystery. However German penants would not be a very popular article for any one to display in our midst at present.—Enterprise.

End of The St. Joe Valley—A special to the dailies from LaGrange under date of April 4, says: "The St. Joe Valley line has been sold to a firm of junk dealers at Chicago for $390,000 which, however does not include the real estate or buildings. The railroad from LaGrange to Columbia was sold for $230,000 and the traction line from Elkhart to LaGrange for $160,000. It is understood that the work of dismantleing the two roads will start at once. The sale was made at Elkhart, three bidders being present.

Amish Relief Work—The Mennonites better known as the Amish, of this county are beginning to get their War Relief Organization in working order. They have contributed $3500 and the work is to continue as the situation demands. They are using their funds in reconstruction work in France where the country has been devastated by war. They are working in conjunction with the Quakers and they already have a number of workers in the war stricken country and are preparing more of them to go in the near future.—Exchange.

Spoke At Montpelier—The Montpelier Leader reports a recent address made by Mrs. Bert Hirsch, of Bryan, [illegible]tly organized branch of the Woman's Council of National Defense, at Montpelier. Mrs. Hirsch is county chairman of this organization. She explained that the Food Administration has placed the conservation campaign in the hands of the Women's Council of National Defense, which is being organized all over the United States. Every housekeeper will be asked to sign a pledge promising to obey government orders as they are published from time to time. When she has signed she will be given a window card to display.

Dear Mrs. Roena Bayes

I came across your name in the WCGS Surname Cross Index for 1999. I have just become a member of the WCGS and noticed that you were researching a name that I am also interested in; Partee.

The information that I have is that James Partee is listed in the 1830 census of Williams County and that he married Lotta Read (Reid sp?). They had a daughter by the name of Margaret E. Partee b. May 1841 in Ohio. She married Francis Rosendaul (b. 19 Aug. 1832 Westphalia Germany) m. 28 Nov.1856 in Williams County.

I also have some other information on James Partee if you would be interested; please let me know.

I would appreciate any information that you could give me. I am enclosing a self addressed stamped envelope and some money to help cover any cost you might incur.

Thankyou

Greg White

MARGARET ROSENDAUL

Margaret Partee Rosendaul was born in Defiance county, May 17, 1841, and died at her home east of Bryan, April 18, 1918 at the age of 76 years, 11 months and one day. She was united in marriage to Frank Rosendaul Nov. 26, 1856 and to them were born 13 children, four of whom have preceded her to the better world. Her husband died November 8, 1914. She leaves to mourn her departure nine children six sons and three daughters, 33 grandchildren and 36 great grandchildren with a host of friends.

She tried to live a christian life thinking rather of those about her than her self. She was a good mother and loved her home and was always there doing her duty. And her children were always welcome to come home. A dear mother has gone to his reward where there is no pain or sorrow for her. To leave us was our sorrow and her gain.

Oh, death where is thy sting; oh, grave where is thy victory.

The funeral was held at the Beaver [redacted] Sunday, April 21 at 10 o'clock, Rev. Davis and Rev. Fredricks officiating and burial in the Shinfer cemetery.

Card of Thanks

The family of Mrs. Rosendaul desire to thank their neighbors and other friends for many kindnesses rendered to them at the death of our mother, to the choir and pastors, and all others for their words of sympathy and comfort, and beautiful flowers.

30 May 1992

Dear Dan,

Hope this finds you and your family all well. Have the Texas storms that we hear about stayed away from your door? Sometimes, well most of the time I miss the first few words of the weather report and then I never know exactly just where things are happening.

I just returned from a trip to Ohio and then on to Indianapolis for a Spring American Legion conference at National Hdqtrs. and then returned to Bryan, OH and spent a week with my nephew and visiting with other members of the family. I thought this would be the time when I would do a lot of family history searching. Did some but didn't accomplish toomush. I wanted to fulfill my promise to take pictures in Shiffler Cem. Made a trip to see the best time of day and then had a perfect day to do it. However, when I returned and had them developed, the film had slipped off the sprocket and no pictures. I will try again when I go back in August. Think I will plan so that I have the film developed while I'm there. I did spend some time in the library and made a copy of Margaret (Partee) Rosendaul's obit. Perhaps you already have it but as you will notice, I did not get to look at all that was in the two papers so will also do that when I get back in OH. There ar quite a few Rosendauls buried in the Shiffler Cem. so if there are any other pictures you would like to have, let me know and I'll do my best. I copied the info. on some of them and will put them on a separate page.

Have a good summer!

Sincerely,

Drill Near Wauseon—Cleveland parties who sometime ago leased considerable oil south and southwest of Wauseon are about ready to begin active operations in the search for that fluid. Milk Question—A meeting of the producers and distributers who supply milk to the city of Toledo, was held at Morenci. One of the producers stated they were not getting high enough price for their milk while another contended there was no market for the product and that milk was being fed to the hogs and cows were being sold. Milk Question—A meeting of the producers and distributers who supply milk to the city of Toledo, was held at Morenci. One of the producers stated they were not getting high enough price for their milk while another contended there was no market for the product and that milk was being fed to the hogs and cows were being sold. It was proposed to establish a farmers milk distributing station in Toledo and sell the milk at nine cents per quart and at that price the farmers would make a profit.—Wauseon Republican.

MARGARET ROSENDAUL

Margaret Partee Rosendaul was born in Defiance county, May 17, 1841, and died at her home east of Bryan, April 18, 1918 at the age of 76 years, 11 months and one day. She was united in marriage to Frank Rosendaul Nov. 26, 1856 and to them were born 13 children, four of whom have preceded her to the better world. Her husband died November 6, 1914. She leaves to mourn her departure nine children six sons and three daughters, 33 grandchildren and 36 great grandchildren with a host of friends.

She tried to live a christian life thinking rather of those about her than her self. She was a good mother and loved her home and was always there doing her duty. And her children were always welcome to come home. A dear mother has gone to her reward where there is no pain or sorrow for her. To leave us was our sorrow and her gain.

Oh, death where is thy sting; oh, grave where is thy victory.

The funeral was held at the Bea-[redacted] Sunday, April 21 at 10 o'clock, Rev. Davis and Rev. Fredricks officiating and burial in the Shiffler cemetery.

End of The St. Joe Valley—A special to the dailies from LaGrange under date of April 4, says: "The St. Joe Valley line has been sold to a firm of junk dealers at Chicago for $390,000 which, however, does not include the real estate or buildings. The railroad from LaGrange to Columbia was sold for $230,000 and the traction line from Elkhart to LaGrange for $160,000. It is understood that the work of dismantleing the two roads will start at once. The sale was made at Elkhart, three bidders being present."

Amish Relief Work—The Mennonites better known as the Amish, of this county are beginning to get their War Relief Organization in working order. They have contributed $3500 and the work is to continue as the situation demands. They are using their funds in reconstruction work in France where the country has been devastated by war. They are working in conjunction with the Quakers and they already have a number of workers in the war stricken country and are preparing more of them to go in the near future.—Exchange.

Spoke At Montpelier—The Montpelier Leader reports a recent address made by Mrs. Bert Hirsch, of Bryan, [redacted]tly organized branch of the Woman's Council of National Defense at Montpelier. Mrs. Hirsch is county chairman of this organization. She explained that the Food Administration has placed the conservation campaign in the hands of the Women's Council of National Defense, which is being organized all over the United States. OBITUARY

Daniel Edgar Partee, son of Enoch and Rebecca Partee, was born in Tiffin township, Defiance county, Ohio, November 15, 1847. He was brought up on the farm and received a common school education. March 19 1873 he was united in marriage to Mary C. Reidand three children were born to them. With the exception of a very few years he made Tiffin township his home. For six years he was superintendent of the Trinity Evangelical Sunday School. He was President of the Tiffin township Sunday school Association for several years. He united with the Evansport M. E. church under the pastorate of Rev. David H. Bailey. He never entered into politics very strong but held several township offices.

As an Odd fellow he took the initiatory degree in Evansport lodge No. 489 I. O. O. F. Dec. 10th, 1880, at the age of 32 years. He became a very active member from the start, and in a short time past the chair and was made a Past Grand. Afterward was District Deputy Grand Master of Defiance County, and served the lodges under his jurisdiction with credit. Since he was made an Odd Fellow he has helped to initiate about 130 members, and has officiated at the last sad rites of many deceased Brothers. He was a member of Evansport Encampment No. 308 I. O. O. F. also was the instigator and a Charter member of Magdelene Rebecca Lodge No. 636 I. O. O. F. A few years ago he took the Grand Lodge Degree. He loved the order and tried to live up to its teachings, Friendship, Love and Truth. His smiling face will be missed among us, but we cannot be so harsh as to wish him back, and as he has gone to join that Grand Lodge above, his acts will ever live in the hearts of his brothers and sisters, and will be a help to those remaining here, that they may follow closer to the teachings of Friendship, Love and Truth.

He departed this life March 2nd, 1912, aged 64 years, 3 months and 17 days, leaving a widow, two sons, one daughter, six grandchildren, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

The funeral was held from the M. E. church conducted by his pastor, Rev. F. W. Marthan and interred in the Evansport cemetery. Evansport lodge No. 489, I. O. O. F. had charge of the services at the cemetery.

Old-time Ozark Musician

<< Previous Next >>

Doris James - Nov 15, 2002 View | Viewers | Reply to this item

My grandfather was an old-time Ozark musician. Clarence Oscar Partee, son of Richard and Martha Hively Partee was called "C.O." by friends and family alike, and C.O. Partee's music was well-known in the Ozarks. If it had strings on it, grandpa could play it. He had a plethora of stringed instruments around his house, many of which he had built himself. When he was a young father and schoolteacher, he conducted "singing schools," teaching people to read music by shaped notes. He taught his sons to play the guitar and his daughters, including my mother, to play the mandolin. He had seven living children and one who died of scarlet fever at a young age. I never knew my grandmother. She died when Mom was just 18. When grandpa remarried, it was to a lady who played piano and organ. When I was a small child, I remember a lot of music going on in that household. Unfortunately, I didn't get to visit them on a regular enough basis to learn to play an instrument, but I certainly have fond memories of them and their music. I just wish that someone had made recordings because grandpa was truly a treasure. Even today when a stranger learns that I am a Partee descendent, many times he or she will say to me, "Are you any kin to C.O. Partee? He was one of the best musicians around!"

I am wondering if members of other branches of the family have noticed musical gifts among themselves. Kelly Pertee of Wayne Co., WV, used to call square dances and, maybe, play the fiddle. Several of Kelly's children had playing and singing talents--including my dad, Everett. In my dad's family, at least two had musical gifts (not me). The point is, there seems to have been a thread of musical talent that has run through the WV Pertee family. Perhaps it's a generational thing among several branches.

I must add, Doris, that I've never heard of anyone in the WV branch who enjoyed the C. O. Partee's degree of success. It is indeed sad that no on recorded him.

Thanks so much Doris I really enjoyed reading that, I also wish I could of heard that myself, I can almost hear it in my head as I read this. Unfortunately that talent doesnt run for me either,

Soiled Document

The State of Ohio } Court of Common
Williams County SS. } Pleas of the Term
} of September A. D. 1843

In a suit amicably entered, Brice Hilton by A. Sessions his attorney complains of Enoch Partee in a plea that he render to the said plaintiff the sum of One hundred and eighty four dollars and sixty four cents which he owes and unjustly detains from the said plaintiff.

For this to wit that whereas the said Enoch Partee heretofore, to wit, on the first day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty three at Defiance in said Williams County made his certain ~~promissory~~ note in writing and then and there delivered the same to the said Brice Hilton by which said note the said Enoch Partee ~~promised to pay~~ acknowledged to be due to the said Brice Hilton, the sum of Two hundred and twenty eight dollars and sixty four cents, by whereof the said Enoch Partee became liable to pay the said sum of money in the said note specified according to the tenor and effect thereof And although the said sum of money in the said note specified has been long since due and payable, yet the plaintiff says that the defendant although often requested so to do has never paid the said sum specified or any part thereof but to pay the same to the said plaintiff according to the tenor of said note has hitherto wholly neglected and refused so to do and yet refuses to the damage

To William C. Holgate Esq. ~~Attorney~~ or any other attorney of record of the State of Ohio

I hereby authorise and empower you or any attorney of record of the State of Ohio to appear before the Court of Common Pleas of Williams County or any other Court of record of said State at ~~any~~ the fall Term thereof or ~~any subsequent~~ A. D. 1843 or any subsequent Term thereof and thereafter for me and in my name to waive the issuing and serving of process and to receive a declaration in favor of Brin Hilton or his legal representatives and confess a judgment in his or their favor against me by nil debet, non assumpsit or otherwise for the ~~amount~~ sum of Two hundred and twenty eight dollars and sixty four cents it being the amount of a note given by me to said Hilton in writing dated April 1st 1843 together with the interest that may appear to be due on said note at the time of the rendition of such judgment, and thereafter to waive all errors ~~and~~ in my behalf. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this first day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and Forty three

DEFIANCE CRESCENT NEWS Mar 1912
OBITUARY

Daniel Edgar Partee, son of Enoch and Rebecca Partee, was born in Tiffin township,Defiance county, Ohio, November 15, 1847. He was brought up on the farm and received a common school education. March 19 1873 he was united in marriage to Mary C. Reidand three children were born to them. With the exception of a very few years he made Tiffin township his home. For six years he was superintendent of the Trinity Evangelical Sunday School. He was President of the Tiffin township Sunday school Association for several years. He united with the Evansport M. E. church under the pastorate of Rev. David H. Bailey. He never entered into politics very strong but held several township offices.

As an Odd fellow he took the iniatory degree in Evansport lodge No. 489 I. O. O. F. Dec. 10th, 1880, at the age of 32 years. He became a very active member from the start, and in a short time past the chair and was made a Past Grand. Afterward was District Deputy Grand Master of Defiance County, and served the lodges under his jurisdiction with credit. Since he was made an Odd Fellow he has helped to initiate about 130 members, and has officiated at the last sad rites of many deceased brothers. He was a member of Evansport Encampment No. 308 I. O. O. F., also was the instigator and a Charter member of Magdelene Rebecca Lodge No. 636 I. O. O. F. A few years ago he took the Grand Lodge Degree. He loved the order and tried to live up to its teachings, Friendship, Love and Truth. His smiling face will be missed among us, but we cannot be so harsh as to wish him back, and as he has gone to join that Grand Lodge above, his acts will ever live in the hearts of his brothers and sisters, and will be a help to those remaining here, that they may follow closer to the teachings of Friendship, Love and Truth."

He departed this life March 2nd, 1912, aged 64 years, 3 months and 17 days, leaving a widow, two sons, one daughter, six grandchildren, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

The funeral was held from the M. E. church conducted by his pastor, Rev. F. W. Marthan and interred in the Evansport cemetery. Evansport lodge No 489, I. O. O. F. had charge of the services at the cemetery.

Obituary

ELIZA M. PARTEE, 1830-1891

Eliza M., wife of James A. Partee, after three weeks of great bodily suffering, passed from labor to reward, on the 18th day of May, 1891, aged 60 years, 8 months, and 10 days. She was converted to God at the age of 14, and lived a life of self sacrifice and submission to the will of God, until her death. On being asked a few days before her death how she felt about going, she rejoiced at the thought and said it would be grand; that she was ready and could go with joy at the Master's call. She had the victory over death and the grave. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn her departure, but not as those who have no hope.

Turn where we may, we feel

An absence sad and drear,

From earth to heaven we turn our thoughts,

We find a presence there.

We'll meet yet once again,

And meet to part no more;

In sweetest fellowship above

until called from this life. In their family were ten children—two sons and eight daughters—Mrs. Deepe being the eldest. To our subject and his wife have been born twelve children, one of whom, Sarah C., died in infancy. Those yet living are as follows: Pherobey J., now the wife of Wilbur Rummell; Mary E., wife of John McComb; John W.; Elizabeth E., wife of Edward Clay; Adelia, wife of Samuel Burk; Phœbe E., wife of Emory Elliott; Nettie; Belle, wife of Walter Dickman; William H.; Lewis C.; and Chauncey M.

After his marriage, Mr. Deepe located in Tiffin township, where he now owns an excellent farm of two hundred acres, on which he has erected good and substantial buildings, which add greatly to the value and attractive appearance of the place. Throughout his business career he has devoted his time and attention to agricultural pursuits, and has met with a well-merited success in his operations. For over half a century he has been a resident of Defiance county, and as a public-spirited, progressive citizen, has given support to all measures for the public good. As one of the representative men of his community, he has been called upon to serve in local official positions. Over his life record there falls no shadow of wrong, his public service was most exemplary, and his private life has been marked by the utmost fidelity to duty. Both he and his wife are sincere and worthy members of the United Brethren Church.

Georges' line

ELMER F. PARTEE.

This well-known and highly respected farmer of Tiffin township is one of Defiance county's native sons, and is a representative of one of her most prominent and honored families, whose identification with her history dates from the earliest settlement of the county, his paternal grandfather, Enos Partee, locating here December 24, 1825. He came from Highland county, Ohio, and his was of the second white family to take up their residence in Tiffin township, with whose development and prosperity its members have since been identified.

William E. Partee, our subject's father, was born in Highland county, January 23, 1821, and was therefore only four years old when brought by his parents to Defiance county, where he grew to manhood amid pioneer scenes, aiding in the arduous task of transforming the wild land into productive and highly cultivated fields. On December 11, 1852, he was united in marriage with Miss Sarah Wissler, a native of Pickaway county, Ohio, and they began housekeeping upon a farm in Tiffin township, Defiance county, making it their home until 1882, when they removed to the city of Defiance.

Roena,

Thanks for your most interesting note! Family illness has prevented me from answering sooner.

Your speculation re your Deborah Purtee is intriguing. I have passed it along to two fellow Purtee/Partee researchers, who can probably comment on it more competently than I. If it leads to anything I will certainly let you know.

> Read your query in the "Ohio's Last Frontier In looking through my Purtee records, I find 2 Purtee marriages as follows:
> Bourbon Co., KY: Hannah Pertee marr Joseph Clems, 17 Jan 1792
> Deborah Purtee marr Griffith Anderson, 7 Feb 1799
> The bond for Hannah Pertee indicates that her father is James Pertee. James also signed the bond for Deborah Purtee.
> This is interresting as I am from John Partee who married Nancy Williams.
> John born 14 Oct 1765 place unknown died 1846, Defiance Co., OH
> Nancy Williams died 1844 Defiance Co., OH
> Both are buried in the Old Webb Cemetery aka Noble/Tiffin Twp. Cemetery.
> They had ten children. Three girls; Hannah, who married Abraham Webb
> Deborah, and I have nothing on her.
> Elizabeth, who married John Lawrence
> Elizabeth born 1786 and died 4 Sep 1871
> Probably the only indication as to the father of John Partee is from the history of the family as read at a reunion in 1900/01. There it stated that the father of John and George was John Partee referred to as John the Frenchman.
> Another researcher has suggested that perhaps the father of John and George was really James the Frenchman.
> Since the Deborah and Hannah of Bourbon Co., KY were of the same generation as John and George, could Hannah and Deborah be their sisters? Could Cassett be a second marriage for Deborah?
> I know this is not what you requested in your query Sorry I guess I just couldn't ignore a query referring to a Partee/Purtee.

* The manuscript column heading reads "Taxables". The tax law required a tax of ten shillings for every "free male person above the age of twenty-one years, who shall be a citizen of this commonwealth".

 According to the 1782 tax law [Hening's Statutes, Vol.11, p. 113], "every county shall divide the same into convenient precincts, and . . . appoint one of the justices for each precinct [and he was to] give public notice of his being so appointed, and at what times and places he intends to receive the lists . . ." Often the militia captains were also justices and since the same males who were required to attend musters were primarily also the persons who were taxable, it is likely the tax lists were collected on days of militia muster. It would appear that the precincts are usually a milita company's district. Often in court records when boundaries are given they follow this practice.
